Compromise Seems Near For Algeria

Ben Khedda Talks With Ben Bella's
Right-Hand Man

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Algeria's rival political leaders appeared headed Saturday for a compromise in efforts to spare the weary nation more bloodshed.

Moderate Premier Ben Youssef, Ben Khedda and several of his ministers met with Mohammed Khider, special envoy and right-hand man of dissident Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella.

CITE RELEASE

Informants said, "All is being arranged." They cited the release of Col. Souat of Arab in Constantine by Ben Bella's followers as a proof of what they called "the climate of confidence."

But there was no official announcement and no solid indication how the tottering Ben Khedda regime and Ben Bella's followers intended to iron out their difficulties.

In the past, frequently optimistic appraisals turned into black pessimism overnight.

Earlier, amid the news of kidnappings of 52 more Europeans by Muslims, several French army patrols reappeared in the streets.

It was the first time since Algeria's independence July 3 that armed French soldiers showed up in the capital. France has indicated its 300,000-man army in Algeria would intervene in case the lives and property of European settlers are threatened.

The kidnappings of Europeans were blamed on what Algerians called "uncontrolled Muslim elements."

Calls for peace came from all parts of the country. Political and trade organizations joined in the appeals.

"Our people demand national unity as rapidly as possible," said Mohammed Yazid, who announced Monday that he was resigning as information minister. "We are on the way to a settlement of our problems," he told reporters.

Khider, Ben Bella's close companion and one of the members of a seven-man Political Bureau that is expected to become the nation's dominant authority, was reported to have been in Algiers during the night.

Lost Man Walks Out Of Forest

WINTER, Wis. (UPI) — Tired, hungry and mosquito-bitten, Alfred Kenney walked out of a dense forest Friday after wandering aimlessly for 10 days and existing on a few berries he picked from the underbrush.

Kenney, 45, of Fairbanks, Alaska, walked out to the farm of Virgil Louthan near Ojibwa four miles from where he disappeared into the woods.

Police Chief Douglas Racette said Kenney was "tired, hungry and weak but very much alive."

Racette took Kenney into his home. Clad only in a shirt, trousers and heavy boots, Kenney survived to days of almost daily rain and one severe hailstorm.

The Sawyer County Sheriff's Department and state Conservation Department had searched for Kenney for several days. They gave up earlier this week.

Racette said Kenney told him he heard a conservation plane, which was equipped with a loudspeaker, on Friday and Saturday but because of the dense forest he could not see the plane and it could not see him.

Kenney had no particular experience as a woodsman. Racette said he had driven here from Milwaukee to build a building on land he owned, and apparently became lost while exploring his property.

LeBlanc Loses
Minerals Post

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. J. B. Davis Friday ousted Gordon M. LeBlanc of Shreveport from the Louisiana Mineral Board and named Philip Watson Sr. of St. Joseph in his place.

The governor gave no reason for the action. LeBlanc, who was in Dallas, Tex., declined comment. The board on June 8 named Hal S. Phillips Sr. of Baton Rouge chairman after William G. Helis, a New Orleans oilman and chairman, resigned with a blast at Davis for the way the governor acted in the tidelands matter.

PRIMARY VOTING

Elections Set Across State

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louisiana Democrats vote today in a primary featured by three bitterly fought congressional contests.

Reps. Hale Boggs of New Orleans, T. A. Thompson of Ville Platte and Harold B. McSweeney of Alexandria face strong opposition in their bids for renomination in this traditional Democratic state when nomination is usually tantamount to election.

Two other congressmen face only token opposition as does U.S. Sen. Russell B. Long. Three congressmen are unopposed.

Poles throughout the state will be open from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. Central Standard Time.

SENATE RACE

At the head of the primary ballot is the Senate contest in which Long, 44, a veteran of 14 years in the Senate, is seeking his third full six-year term. He is a heavy favorite over retired U.S. Army Lt. Col. Phil St. Amant.

ARMY TROOPS STAY Last Of Marines Leave Thailand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government Friday announced the withdrawal from Thailand of the remaining 1,800 U.S. Marines sent into that country in May to protect its borders from a Communist invasion threat.

"The remaining U.S. Marines stationed at Udorn, Thailand, are being redeployed to their ships and stations," an announcement by the Defense Department said.

The original American force ordered into Thailand by President Kennedy totaled approximately 6,000 Army, Marine and Air Force men. On July 1, it was announced that 1,000 Marines had been pulled out.

The Pentagon cited no reason for the withdrawal of remaining Marines who had been stationed along the Mekong River boundary between Thailand and Laos.

The action, however, followed closely the signing of a 14-nation guarantee of the independence of Laos under a coalition government.

When Kennedy sent U.S. forces into Thailand at the Thai government's request, he attributed his move to "recent attacks in Laos by Communist forces and the subsequent movement of Communist military units toward the border of Thailand."

Withdrawal of all Marines from the southeast Asian country apparently left an Army force there of about 2,200 men and Air Force units totaling approximately 1,000 persons.

Kenney's original order dispatched a 5,000-man force to Thailand.

Senators Trim JFK Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee Friday softened the impact of higher taxes on savings and loan companies and trimmed other sections of President Kennedy's much-attacked tax reform bill.

The panel, however, failed to finish work on the measure after more than five hours of closed sessions devoted to a general review of tentative actions taken earlier.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said another meeting would be held Tuesday afternoon in an effort to reach a final vote.

As it stands, the bill carries a series of tax loophole-closing provisions, and a $11 billion tax credit for business designed to spur investments in new machinery and equipment.

In drafting work Friday, the committee approved 11 amendments. The net effect was to whittle down the revenue gains approved by the House last March 29.

Although the measure still is subject to further change, the bill now would cost the Treasury more than $900 million a year. The House measure would have produced $120 million in new revenues.

Perhaps the most significant action taken in the day-long review was an about-face on proposals tentatively approved earlier to hike taxes on mutual savings banks and savings and loan companies.

The House measure would have increased levies in this area by $250 million. The Senate panel took the House language, and also hit privately-owned stock building and loan companies with an additional $30 million increase, or a total of $280 million.

Emergency Aid Will Go To Argentina

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced Friday night a broad program of assistance to help Argentina out of a financial jam. The immediate aid will run about $200 million.

Washington's willingness to help the South American republic was indicated earlier in the day when President Kennedy received the country's minister of economy, Alvarez Alsogaray, at the White House. This was taken to mean U.S. support for Argentina's government both politically and economically.

The credits — publicly pegged to Argentina's promises to help it sell in every way possible — are expected to run about $125 million for development projects and about $75 million to bolster the country's currency, help it meet pressing internal cash problems, and help supply it with dollars to import the things it needs to import.

The announcement pledged U.S. assistance to Argentina not only in its economic and social development program but in reforming its tax system, its foreign exchange controls, and its foreign trade policy.

Shortly before the U.S. aid was announced, the International Monetary Fund reported an agreement with Argentina to maintain close, normal relations, to achieve lasting monetary stability and provide the basis for sustained growth.

Senators Trim JFK Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee Friday softened the impact of higher taxes on savings and loan companies and trimmed other sections of President Kennedy's much-amended tax reform bill.

The panel, however, failed to finish work on the measure after more than five hours of closed sessions devoted to a general review of tentative actions taken earlier.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said another meeting would be held Tuesday afternoon in an effort to reach a final vote.

As it stands, the bill carries a series of tax loopholes-closing provisions, and a $1.1 billion tax credit for business designed to spur investments in new machinery and equipment.

Washington's willingness to help the South American republic was indicated earlier in the day when President Kennedy received the country's minister of economy, Alvaro Alsogaray, at the White House. This was taken to mean U.S. support for Argentina's government both politically and economically.

PRIMARY TODAY

Heavy Ouachita Vote Is Expected

Ouachita Parish voters go to the polls today to ballot in the first Democratic primary election with a heavy vote predicted.

Polls open at 6 a.m. and close at 8 p.m., with tabulation of returns following tonight in the clerk of court office in the parish court-house.

A vote of approximately 17,000 has been estimated in the parish — representing about 65 per cent of the 26,096 registered voters.

STATE RACE

Parish voters will participate in one state-wide race to choose a U.S. Senator. They also will vote for a representative to the State Board of Education from the Fifth Congressional District, and a judge to fill the newly created third post in the Fourth Judicial District.

Voters in wards one, two, three and five will ballot for parish school board members.

Voting is scheduled today in all 51 precincts in the 10 wards throughout the parish.

The choice is between two candidates in the race for U.S. Senate — incumbent Russell B. Long and challenger Phil St. Amant.

Four candidates are vying for the state board of education post, including W. E. Whetstone and John E. Mulhearn, both of Monroe; O. N. (Nick) Hamilton, Oak Grove; and Bobby C. Wilson, West Monroe.

Fourteen parishes comprise the Fifth Congressional District, including Ouachita, Morehouse, West Carroll, East Carroll, Madison, Tensas, Catahoula, Concordia, Franklin, Caldwell, Jackson, Lincoln, Union and Richland.

Others who received samples of the drug from its manufacturer was provided by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, James said. He said inspectors are working to contact all city physicians who received the drug and their patients to locate any of it still in circulation and place it under immediate embargo.

By Friday night, 10 of the 14 doctors who got the drug had been reached, the city health department reported. The department would not elaborate.

James said a nationwide search also is going on.

The manufacturer of the drug, William S. Merrell, of Cincinnati, said all samples of the drug, a sleeping pill, were recalled about four months ago, after the wave of deformed births was reported in Europe.

OVER 3 YEARS

1,126 U.S. Doctors Get Accused Drug

NEW YORK (AP)—In the past three years, 1,126 doctors in the 50 states received experimental supplies of thalidomide, a drug blamed for recent births of deformed children, a city official said Friday.

Dr. George James, acting health commissioner, said 14 New York City physicians received the drug. The New York State Health Department said that 56 physicians in Upstate New York also were given experimental supplies.

At least three deformed babies have been born recently to New York City area mothers who took the drug during their pregnancies.

However, they had obtained the drug in Europe, where more than 4,000 such births have been reported, rather than from doctors here.

PROBING DEATHS

Bienville Man Held For Jury

ARCADIA (Special) — A Bienville Parish coroner's jury has ordered Wayne Drew Johnson, resident of the Mt. Lebanon community, held for "further action by the grand jury" in connection with a shotgun shooting Thursday in which three persons were killed.

Report by the coroner's jury was returned late Friday afternoon.

Victims of the shooting were Johnson's estranged wife, Mrs. Gloria Jean Lee Johnson, 30; and Mrs. Johnson's parents, Clyde Clayton Lee, 63, and Mrs. Nova Holland Lee, 57.

The jury ruled that the three died as a result of gunshot wounds from a shotgun. A 12 gauge double-barreled shotgun reportedly was used in the shoot-3:30 and 4 p.m. Thursday.

In the deaths of Mrs. Johnson and Lee, the coroner's jury report listed "death by gunshot wounds from a shotgun fired by Wayne Drew Johnson" and ordered Johnson held for "further action by the grand jury or appropriate authorities."

In the case of Mrs. Lee, the report said only "death by gunshot wounds from a shotgun" and ordered Johnson held for "investigation in connection with the case."

Johnson is being held in jail, although the Bienville Parish sheriff's department Friday night still would not disclose the location.

He was arrested at his parents' home in the Mt. Lebanon community shortly after the killings. Johnson had been living with his parents about two months after separating from his wife.

Lee was struck in the head and stomach by the shotgun blasts at an auto repair garage near Bienville. Mrs. Lee was shot in the chest and Mrs. Johnson in the back of the head at the Lee farmhouse, three miles from the auto repair garage.

Russians Plan Annual Display Of Naval Arm

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — The Soviet Union will display its naval power Sunday in the annual navy day shows at ports on three seas — possibly including an atomic submarine capable of firing missiles from underwater.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was reported to have watched a submerged submarine fire a missile last week during his visit to Arctic fleet maneuvers. The official Tass news agency report was the first public announcement that the Soviet had developed such a missile.

The United States launched its first missile submarine, the George Washington, in June, 1959, and first fired a Polaris missile from it while submerged two years ago — July, 1960.

Western military observers who will be attending navy day observances at this Baltic port have received no advance indication as to whether an atomic submarine will be among the vessels anchored in the Neva River harbor.

Similar celebrations will be held in Black Sea and Pacific ports. Although the July 14 Tass dispatch was the first claim of an underwater missile shot, the Russians have said for some time that they have nuclear-powered submarines.

Tass also hinted that some naval achievement may be announced on navy day like the premier decorated the officers and crew of a nuclear submarine for carrying out an undisclosed "special assignment" for the government.

Western observers speculated that the achievement might have been a round the world trip submerged or a voyage under the Polar ice cap.

MINK-LINED RAINCOATS

Spaniard Likes Casual Clothes

PARIS (AP) — Antonio del Castillo, a rich Spaniard, likes to dress casually, live as comfortably and have as much fun as those with out so many taxes to pay.

The French fashion industry therefore demonstrated with a variety of colorful materials how this could be done. The occasion was the Lanvin-Castillo press and buyer opening.

While it's not likely that his mink-lined raincoats, for example, will make their way to the masses, buyers noted a number of costumes that may become common fashion denominators.

All the Lanvin family sat in front row seats as their talented designer sent his models into the showroom.

Castillo's collection contained a lot of black and white striped raincoats, ponies, fashions painted in odd designs; hats fashioned after those made famous by Maurice Chevalier; jewelry representing playing cards, umbrellas and handbags covered with cat fur to match the linings of expensive raincoats.

Among the wealth of design ideas was the hitched-up dress, the skirt rolled up or turned up at the hip appearing to be a tunic. There were oversized fur pocket flaps and exaggerated collars. Belled jersey blouses gathered low at the hip on tweed suit skirts, long sleeves of satin evening gowns blended into gloves of the same fabric, making it impossible to tell where gloves began and dress left off.

Castillo departed from his designing compatriots by making sleeves wide and set high. Torsos were tight and with nature's waist lines.

He went along with the trend to longer skirts, longer blouses, stand-up collars, double jackets. Despite his Castilian background he was moderate about fringed capes and beads.

Above all, for every time of day or night and in the most colorful of colors.

Albany Police Arrest King At City Hall

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI) — Integration leader Martin Luther King Jr. and nine other Negroes were jailed Friday when they arrived at City Hall and asked for an audience with the city commission to discuss integration demands.

They were charged with disorderly conduct by virtue of creating a general disturbance, congregating on the sidewalk and refusing to obey an officer's command to move on. Bond was set at $200 cash, or as an alternative, officials said they would accept $400 property bond.

It marked the third time since last December that King, the South's top integration leader, has been jailed in efforts to crack this South Georgia city's rigid race barrier.

King and his party arrived at the city hall in two cars and were met in front of the building by Police Chief Laurie Pritchett.

Dr. W. G. Anderson, head of the Albany Movement — the organization spearheading the local integration drive — told Pritchett the group wanted to talk with the city commission.

Pritchett replied that the commission wasn't meeting Friday and asked, "They don't ever meet out here on the sidewalk."

He then told the group it would have to move because "you're creating a disturbance here."

Instead of obeying, members of the group bowed their heads and the Rev. Ralph Abernathy led the group in a prayer that lasted about three minutes.

When it was over, police waited about 10 seconds and then Pritchett stepped up to King, put his hand on his shoulder and said, "All right, you're all under arrest."

The group was then led into the municipal building, which also houses the jail.

The brief demonstration was the first since last Tuesday when two policemen were injured while trying to break up a crowd of about 200 Negroes, many of whom hurled rocks and bottles at the officers.

The rock-throwing outbreak occurred just hours after a federal judge lifted a restraining order banning racial demonstrations in the town.

The judge said he was lifting the order because of a legal technicality and said that the same judge who originally restricted the demonstration could turn the restraining order back on at any time.

Robert Capucci, who left his successes in Rome last January to have a go of it in this world, also showed his collection on this busiest of all fashion houses opening days.

His collection emphasized the fons with as little detail as possible. In a wispy, dreamy way his models were cluttered with the little were complicated or gaudy or too showy. His style method of treating fountains and panels which freng a woman as a woman was to quently gave the impression of drape her in soft crepe and chiffon petaled flowers.

DEFEATED REPUBLICAN

Solon Opposes His School Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Carroll D. Kearns, R-Pa., Friday announced his opposition to a bill introduced Tuesday by Rep. Carroll D. Kearns, R-Pa.

The measure would authorize a $488 million federal school aid program. Kearns said Friday there was no demonstrated need for such a massive aid program.

The ranking GOP member of the House Education and Labor committee inserted the repudiation of his bill in the Congressional Record.

"I regret that this bill, which does not in any way reflect my views, was inadvertently introduced," the statement said.

Kearns, who was defeated for the GOP nomination in his district, was not available for further comment.

The Kearns bill was identical to legislation offered earlier this year by Rep. Cleveland Bailey, D-W. Va. It would provide "no strings attached" aid to states for classroom construction, teacher pay or any other legal educational purpose.

The money could be used for transportation and textbooks for private and parochial school children in states that permit use of their own funds for those purposes.

No other Republican has joined Bailey in sponsorship of the bill, but Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., who is in line to succeed Kearns as ranking committee Republican next year, has been working with the West Virginia Democrat in an effort to draft a bill agreeable to school aid supporters in both parties.

One source said Kearns introduced the Bailey bill under his own name after hearing that Frelinghuysen was getting ready to sponsor legislation along the same lines. Another said Bailey personally thanked Kearns for his support before the bill was introduced.

It also was reported that Kearns repudiated the bill at the urging of other Republican committee members, who felt that his action undercut their previously solid position that states already are doing a good job of meeting classroom shortages.

His bill he added, "overcomes the constitutional issue by extending to all literacy tests a principle already established in the Civil Rights Act of 1960."

Windstorm Hits Buildings, Lines In Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Heavy winds in a thunderstorm slashed through a lock-long area of small supply houses and warehouses Friday, causing damage but no injuries.

The winds, which struck about 3:10 p.m. at the normally busy intersection of Foster Drive and Choctaw Road, knocked down power lines and scattered debris.

The hardest wind blows skipped about, touching only certain areas. Police chief Wingate White said there were no injuries.

The scene is about two miles northeast of the state capital. Weather bureau officials said damage was caused by very strong, straight line winds.

Damage appeared to be concentrated at the Parish Lumber Supply Co. and the Harrison Paint Co. store across the street. A hole was ripped in the roof of the Capital Steel Co. warehouse.

Flying bits of roof metal dented a few motor vehicles. A nearby row of homes apparently escaped the hard blows.

Split Korea Observes Its Anniversary

SEOUL, (UPI) — Divided Korea observed the ninth anniversary of the armistice ending the Korean War Friday. Both governments charged the other is preparing to attack.

The three-year war that cost 54,246 American lives ended July 27, 1953 with the armistice establishing a two and one-half-mile wide demilitarized zone between South Korea and Communist North Korea. But the war of words has not stopped yet.

South Korea's government newspaper, the Korean Republic, said Friday the armistice was a mistake and called for increased vigilance against the Communists.

North Korea's Pyongyang Radio denounced the United States and the Seoul government and charged they have not lived up to the agreement.

"Not drawing a lesson from the bitter cup of shameful defeat in their aggressive war in Korea, the U.S. imperialist aggressors are trying their hardest to remain in South Korea and turn it into a nest of war," it said.

The South Korean newspaper said the armistice "should serve as a constant reminder that the Communist aggressors are just across the demilitarized zone with guns at the ready."

The exchange of charges also continues in the meetings of the Military Armistice Commission, where United Nations command and Communist officials face each other periodically.

When the armistice was signed, Gen. Mark W. Clark, then U.N. commander-in-chief, said "the conflict will not be over until the governments concerned have reached a firm political settlement."

The agreement recommended that a high level political conference be held within 90 days to reach a peaceful settlement of the Korean question.

Plain and simple crepe sheaths contrasted with bell-shaped and mink-hemmed cabaret dresses. Costumes of cloudy chiffon panels vied for honors with more chiffon, tucked and ruffled.

Just as Castillo sometimes put several kinds of furs into the same costume, he also mixed textures and fabrics. A plain black crepe sheath, for example, was topped by white, rhinestone encrusted panels.

Among the colors, violent blues and reds, and mixed shades of brown and white, blue and brown, black and white, navy and red predominated.

Thomas J. Dodd Wants New Bill On Voter Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill designed to prevent discriminatory use of literacy tests as a qualification for voting was proposed Friday by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

The bill would require written records of all such tests to permit what Dodd called a realistic court review of alleged abuses.

"The Civil Rights Commission," he added in a statement, "has reported that so-called literacy tests have been important weapons of racial discrimination before a citizen can cast his ballot."

"By simplifying the problem of proof and facilitating a second look at questionable tests, the Dodd bill would afford prompt relief to victims of this form of discrimination."

Earlier this session, an administration-backed bill to set six years of education as adequate proof of literacy touched off a lengthy debate over the proposal's constitutionality and then died in a Senate filibuster, Dodd recalled.

His bill, he added, "overcomes the constitutional issue by extending to all literacy tests a principle already established in the Civil Rights Act of 1960."

Elections Set Across State

Clendon, 26, an attorney backed by ultraconservatives, and Paul Pottharst, an insurance man in New Orleans and Jefferson.

Most observers expect a first primary victory for Boggs in his toughest primary contest in years.

In the 7th District, in southwest Louisiana, Rep. Thompson also has three opponents, headed by Hugh Shearman, publisher of the Lake Charles American Press.

His other opponents are Allen Commander, former federal foreign aid adviser, and Larry Stephenson Calcasieu Parish civil defense director.

In contests where no candidate receives a first primary majority, runoffs will be held Sept. 1.

Reps. F. Edward Hebert of New Orleans and James Morrison of Hammond have taken opposition. Hebert, dean of the state's congressional delegation, is opposed by contractor Jacob Fink in the 1st District, while Morrison is running against segregationist Herbert Price in the 6th District.

Unopposed for renomination are Reps. Edwin Willis of St. Martinville, Joe D. Waggoner Jr., of Plain Dealing and Otto Passman of Monroe.

Several congressmen will have Republican opposition in November. Taylor W. O'Hearn of Shreveport is the GOP candidate for the Senate, while David Trean, former Louisiana State Rights party chairman, and Dorothy Lewis will run in the 2nd and 8th districts respectively.

Chief Justice John Fournet of Jennings, has two opponents in a rare primary fight for his place as associate justice of the state supreme court. They are Vance Thompson of Alexandria and Judge James Nelson Lee of Bunkie.

The contests for appeals court are in the fourth circuit, where two seats are being filled, and in the first circuit.

In one fourth circuit race, New Orleans Civil Dist. Judge Paul Chazez and New Orleans Juvenile Court Judge Anna Judge Veters Levy are seeking the unexpired term of Judge George Janvier, who retired. It runs until December, 1964.

In the other contest, four candidates are seeking a newly-created seat for a term that runs until December, 1970. They are New Orleans Civil Dist. Judge Luther Hall, who has been sitting by appointment, Arthur V. Flotte, George W. Gill Jr., and Cyril J. Gracianette.

In the first circuit, two candidates seek the seat of the late judge Robert Jones of Bogalusa. They are Judges A. J. Jones of Bogalusa and Horace Reid of Amite.

Board of Education races are taking place in the 2nd and 5th Congressional Districts, and the 2nd Public Service Commission District.

In the 2nd Congressional District, J. Marshall Brown, Daniel Ellis and Joseph Logreco are running for the seat of Mrs. Dorothy Meade, who has served for more than 30 years.

In the 2nd Public Service Commission District, Robert Browne of Lafayette and state Sen. Jack Fruge of Ville Platte are running for the seat of Isom Gullory of Eunice.

Four candidates are trying for the 5th Congressional District place of George Madison. They are O. N. (Nick) Hamilton, Bobby Wilson, W. E. Whetstone and John Mulhearn.

State Public Service Commission Chairman Ernest Clements has six opponents in his race for reelection in the 2nd District. They are state Rep. Francis Bickford, of Tangipahoa Parish, state Sen. Lee Firmin of Franklin, J. Bentley Alexander of Baton Rouge, Ted Nelson of Bunkie and Andrew Falcon of Donaldsonville.

In the 19th (East Baton Rouge) and 4th (Ouachita and Morehouse) judicial districts, newly created judgeships will be filled.

In New Orleans, voters ballot for criminal court, traffic court and juvenile court judges, and on seven bond issues totalling $10 million.

AMERICAN SCIENTIST

Triumph Is Seen On Lung Cancer

MOSCOW (AP)—A possible major breakthrough in lung cancer research was reported Friday—the long-sought artificial production of such a cancer in a monkey.

The American scientist who reported the development to the eighth International Cancer Congress said it may open the way to resolving the worldwide controversy as to whether excessive cigarette smoking can cause lung cancer.

Dr. Arthur J. Vorwald of Detroit, Mich., a leading cancer researcher, also said he is so confident his work represents a major breakthrough that he is planning to start within the next few months to try to train monkeys to smoke cigarettes to see if lung cancer can be produced by that means.

The monkey lung cancer was reported achieved by the action in a monkey—a new animal much closer to man than rats or mice—not only opened up possibilities for resolving the cigarette-smoking fight but also for testing a variety of industrial and other chemicals for possible lung cancer dangers.

Further, he indicated, the monkey technique could offer the best bet yet for testing potential drug weapons against lung cancer.

Some other doctors at the meeting, including Dr. James Coney, of the American Cancer Society, and Dr. James F. Murray, a Briton from South Africa, hailed Vorwald's report as "definitely a major breakthrough," in comments to reporters.

Some others, including Wilhelm Hueper, of the U.S. National Cancer Institute, while affirming that the finding is a promising one, urged caution in evaluating it until lung cancers can be produced in additional monkeys.

If Vorwald's hopes are achieved, Toughie's name might eventually hold a place in medicine's annals of honor at least comparable to that held by Ham, the famous American space chimp.

Traffic Cases Take Up Most Of Court Docket

Activity was light Friday in Monroe city court before Judge W. M. Harper and devoted almost exclusively to traffic violations.

Exceptions were a case of theft against Negro Janice Smith, 34, 702 S. 14th St., nolle prossed on payment of court costs, and one of illegal use of a weapon, a knife, against John W. Wilkins, 39, also a Negro, of 920 Bryant St. He was fined $25 or 25 days in jail.

One bond was forfeited for disturbing the peace and three cases of the same offense were nolle prossed.

In traffic court, three were fined for speeding, including Raymond H. Johnson, route 1713 Filhail St.; and Negro Floyd Jones, 4000½ Dunlop. Fined for reckless driving were Wilfred T. Hill, 2601 Lexington Ave.; David C. Greer, 3303 Dick Taylor; P. C. Hill, 305 S. 12th St.; and Oliver E. Acreman of Lake Providence.

Five bonds for overparking were forfeited, as were three for running stop signs. A fourth stop sign case resulted in a $25 fine or 25 days. Two $25 bonds were forfeited for following too closely. Also forfeited was a bond for having an improper muffler.

Nolle prossed was a charge of inoperative brakes and another of driving without a valid state drivers license. In another instance of the latter charge, a $5 fine or five-day term resulted.

A Message to the Voters of Ward 3

On Saturday, July 28th, you will have the opportunity to elect two (2) School Board Members to serve you from Ward 3. I hope that you will favorably consider my candidacy for one of these two positions and permit me to work for the betterment of our Ouachita Parish School Board.

If elected, I propose to strive for both qualitative and quantitative excellence in our school system. I sincerely believe that standards of quality vital for a superior school system are sometimes overlooked. The adequate school board considers finances, professional leadership, teachers, school plant and equipment, students and last, but not least, the educational programs in our schools.

As a life long resident of our Ward, I am vitally interested in serving you, my neighbors, to the best of my ability and I will work toward equal consideration of all of the responsibilities of my office.

Cast Your Vote Today

Although the ballot which will face voters in today's election is comparatively short, it is extremely important that citizens go to the polls and cast their ballots. Several important offices are at stake.

One thing that everyone should remember in going to the polls is that the citizen who votes for his principles, to the best of his ability with the candidates offered, is performing the best services for his country. If a candidate has not carried out his official duties in the way the voter believes to be best, there seems good reason to vote for his opponent if that man offers better prospects. No one loses his vote even if he casts his ballot to the best of his ability. Voting for a man just because he is expected to win is really a wasted vote.

Topping the ballot in today's election are two candidates for United States senator, the incumbent, Russell Long, and Phil A. St. Amant. Next are candidates for the state board of education in the fifth congressional district. These are followed by candidates for district judge. There are races for parish school board in wards 1, 2, 3 and 5.

Not only does a person who votes perform his duty but he helps to preserve his right to vote, inasmuch as his voter registration eventually lapses if he does not vote.

So cast your vote for the candidates you think are best.

We Three Kennedys

It was the famed French jurist and philosopher Montesquieu who wrote that "there can be no liberty where the legislative and executive powers are united in the same person or body of magistrates," and that "constant experience shows us that every man invested with power is apt to abuse it."

The best known statement in similar tenor came from the 19th century British historian, Lord Acton, who said: "Power tends to corrupt and absolute power tends to corrupt absolutely."

These two statements seem applicable to the case of the Kennedy brothers, President John, his brother Robert, whom he appointed as his first lieutenant in the office of attorney general, and to Ted, one of their other brothers, who is running for United States senate in Massachusetts. It is applicable because there has been every indication that the Kennedys have been seeking absolute power for themselves and their family, without doubt intending, if possible, to set up a Kennedy dynasty that might last for generations.

While he was a senator, John Kennedy frequently contested the presidential powers used by President Harry Truman. Now, in a reversed position, he holds that a president should be given "all the power he can handle," which means, of course, that he thinks he should be a dictator if he can wrest all the power from the judicial and executive branches.

President Kennedy's campaign biographer, James MacGregor Burns, quotes him as saying in 1960:

"How far would I go? I believe that our system of checks and balances, our whole constitutional system, can only operate under a strong president. The constitution is a very wise document. It permits the president to assume just about as much power as he is capable of handling. If he fails, it is his fault, not the system's. I believe the president should use whatever power is necessary to do the job unless it is expressly forbidden by the constitution."

Of course, the president, in those statements, was twisting the constitution to meet his viewpoint. The specific intention of the constitution was to prevent the concentration of power in any one branch of the government. The statements above clearly emphasize the president's desire for more power than he is entitled to under the constitution, and he has repeatedly asked congress for additional powers. These should generally be denied on a blanket basis.

The close liaison between John and Robert Kennedy in the shaping of national policies is a further demonstration of their grasping for additional powers. Although Robert Kennedy's experience had not qualified him for the office of attorney general, both he and the president knew that he was installed there for the purpose of increasing their family power. Should Ted Kennedy attain the senate seat he seeks the liaison would extend into the executive branch.

U.S. News & World Report said recently: "Together these young men make the Kennedy family the most powerful family in the history of the nation - and among the most powerful families in the history of the world."

It is significant that while neither John nor Robert Kennedy had administrative experience before taking their present offices, each now wields administrative power in a free-wheeling way. One of President Kennedy's purposes in appointing Robert was to exert a strong influence on the federal courts of this country. That has been proved by the fact that the justice department has been an intervenor in cases in which it should have left the matter to the other litigants involved. Robert Kennedy has also been held as a threat over the heads of businessmen, who were made to fear they would face federal investigations, no matter how unjustified they might be, if they did not accede to the Kennedy wishes.

If Ted Kennedy should be elected he will have gained that office because of ruthless pressure tactics applied by all three of these Kennedy brothers.

Election of Ted Kennedy would mean the Kennedys would have their fingers deep in all three of the governmental branches.

Our one hope of stopping the ascension of the Kennedys to dictatorial power lies in the congress and in the people who tell their congressmen what to do.

Recent defeat of three big Kennedy measures - the farm conservation bill, the urban renewal bill (designed eventually to take zoning out of the hands of local people) and the medicare bill - indicates that congress has awakened to the danger.

It may be that members of congress now realize that "power tends to corrupt and absolute power tends to corrupt absolutely" and that they do not want this country to fall into corruption.

Electioneering By Unions

Auto Workers And Farmer Group Pooling Resources To Elect 'Liberal' Senators And Representatives

Potentially high-powered electioneering is being backed by two unusual allies. The United Auto Workers, headed by Walter Reuther, and the National Farmers Union, headed by James Patton, are pooling their financial and political resources in a "nonpartisan" campaign to elect "liberal" senators and representatives in this fall's balloting.

This agreement was reached at an unannounced meeting in Denver, attended by important officials of both organizations.

Significantly, top Agriculture Department officials also were present.

The latter discussed the recent defeat of the Administration's farm bill by a narrow margin in the House and expressed eagerness to assist in electing members of Congress who will support such legislation.

Those participating in this back stage gathering included:

Agriculture Department - Robert Lewis, Deputy Administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service; Thomas Hughes, executive assistant to Secretary Orville Freeman; and Rodney Leonard, a press officer.

United Auto Workers - Roy Reuther, brother of Walter, head of the union's political program, and director of the registration drive of the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE); vice-president Patrick Greathouse; Philip Dadds, administrative assistant to Walter Reuther; and Paul Russo, administrative assistant to Greathouse.

Farmers Union - John Eklund, director of education and officers from Midwestern and Western states.

Another meeting is to be held in August, probably in Chicago. At this second gathering, the intention is to implement plans for imbedded in Denver with additional measures. Other meetings may be held in September and October. This will be determined later.

WHAT THEY'RE UP TO - Primary purpose of this unusual political alliance is to concentrate on so-called "marginal" congressional districts - where the incumbent was elected by a margin of five or less per cent.

There are approximately 100 such districts, including both Republican and Democratic.

Under the agreement reached in Denver, the Farmers Union will focus its efforts in rural areas, especially the Middle West, and the Auto Workers in cities where it has locals and ties with other unions.

While the UAW-NEU political drive nominally will be "nonpartisan," in actual practice far more Democrats than Republicans will be supported.

That is particularly true in industrial centers where the UAW can make its weight felt. Also indicative of this is that the two organizations contemplate working closely with the Democratic National Committee, especially in providing crowds for President Kennedy's electioneering appearances throughout the country.

The presence of Agriculture Department officials at the Denver meeting is another revealing straw in the wind on how this political alliance is likely to function.

Both the UAW and the NEU are financially well-heeled, and have had extensive campaign experience. The UAW vigorously supported President Kennedy in 1960, and the NEU was the principal farm organization backing his farm bill which the Senate approved and the House narrowly rejected.

Also, Walter Reuther and James Patton are on first-name terms with the President.

POLITICALS - Something new has been added to the senatorial campaign of Teddy Kennedy, 30-year-old brother of the President. Young Kennedy has strenuously proclaimed it a "crusade" - without giving any idea of what he is crusading for or against. Apparently, it's just a crusade for the job - the first elective office he has ever run for.

H. M. Hank Greenspan, militant publisher of the Las Vegas News, SUN, has tossed his hat into the ring for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Noted for his turbulent independence and forthright bashing against both Republicans and Democrats, Greenspan jumped into the political arena after the sudden death of his close friend, Lieutenant Governor Rex Bell, shortly after he had announced for governor with Greenspan's enthusiastic backing. While running for governor on the GOP slate, Greenspan is supporting the reelection of another close friend, Democratic Senator Alan Bible. Nevada campaign should be wild and woolly - in keeping with other things in the State.

Bobby Baker, one-time page boy and now Secretary of the Senate Majority, has branched out into a usual field. The astute and popular South Carolinian has gone into the hotel business with the Carousell Motor Inn near Ocean City, Md., an hour's drive from the Capital. Bobby launched the swank resort with a lavish party for several hundred VIP guests transported in air-conditioned buses. They included Vice President and Mrs. Johnson, Cabinet members, senators, congressmen and other officials.

Gilbert Robinson, special assistant to the Commerce Secretary in the Eisenhower Administration, is tackling one of the toughest political districts in the country - Manhattan's Upper West Side. Born in the district, Robinson is running for Congress with the warm endorsement of Eisenhower and Governor Rockefeller.

Robinson's campaign slogan is: "A 20th Century Candidate for the 20th Congressional District" and he is pledging GOP leadership for adequate housing, equal job opportunities, and to education, medical care for the aged, and measures to cope with the causes of crime and juvenile delinquency.

Senator Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., is apparently uneasy about his standing at the White House because of his crucial vote against the President's medicare bill. The day after the President's angry blast at opponents of the measure, Randolph's office announced a bill to permit the U.S. Infirmary Agency to show in the U.S. the widely-praised color movie of Mrs. Kennedy's trip to India and Pakistan.

Proclaimed Randolph, "I am privileged to be a co-sponsor of this timely proposal. It was my unusual pleasure to view this beautiful film of the trip of our gracious First Lady India and Pakistan are depicted with breathtaking beauty and with a human approach."

The U.S. Travel Service has come up with an unexpected finding in a poll of some 1,000 foreign visitors. The agency is in charge of the drive to attract foreign tourists, and to aid in this effort asked those coming here what they wanted to see the most. Disneyland ranked first and Washington a close second.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I don't understand too much about the "change." But will you answer this? If a woman has not menstruated for 15 years and is now 60 years old, is there any chance of pregnancy?

Comment: Unlike the previous answer when I had to hedge, I can unequivocally answer "No, there is no chance of pregnancy."

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "Practical Pointers for Coronary Patients," will be mailed on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and 10 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, care of this newspaper.

HYPERHYROIDISM

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Two years ago I had my first bout with a hyperthyroid condition. It was corrected after one year of medication with propylthiouracil. It remained inactive for nearly one year and now has flared up again.

I am being urged to use radioactive iodine to correct this problem but am hesitant to use it. I am a mother of 27 and have three young children. I feel I'm in no position to take a chance of this form of treatment, particularly

RALPH de TOLEDANO

Red China Issue

Will U.S. State Department Push For Communist Recognition?

With the United Nations General Assembly convening on September 18, the question of Red China's admission is again being battered around on Embassy Row. Will those forces within the State Department which favor that admission, it is being asked, dare to push it during an election campaign? There are some who argue that the Administration will do its best to prevent any such move on the part of U.S. diplomats. The Red China issue is still a hot one around the country in marginal districts - that is, those which the Democrats hold by less than 5 per cent of the vote - the admission of the Chinese Communists to the U.N. might cost the Administration several seats in the House of Representatives.

There are, however, some indications that unanimity does not exist within the State Department and the Administration on this touchy issue. It is no secret here that Dr. Walt Whitman Rostow, chairman of the department's Policy Planning Council, firmly believes that the U.S. should support admission of the Chinese Reds, thereby bowing to the "inevitable" and currying favor with the so-called neutralist nations. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has blown hot and cold on the question, so it is difficult to determine what his views may now be.

But there is one very large straggler in the wind which would tend to show that the decision has been made in favor of Red China. The American Association for the United Nations has published a double-barreled report calling for the seating of both Red China and Communist East Germany. This, says the AAUN, would bring into the international organization the "effective spokesmen for all the world's peoples" - does Mao Tse-tung speak for the Chinese people - and maximize the possibility of peaceful changes in the world. The AAUN report is being submitted to the Security Council in the hope that it will recommend these admissions to the General Assembly.

Signers of the document include Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, former Assistant Secretary of State; Francis O. Wilcox, former Democratic Senator; Frank P. Graham, and Saturday Review editor Norman Cousins - to name but a few.

What gives it significance, however, is the relationship of the American Association for the United Nations and the State Department. On the surface, the AAUN is a private, voluntary organization. Actually, it is considered in certain quarters as a "front" for the State Department. Whether or not this be fact, there is no doubt that the efforts of the AAUN to bring Red China into the United Nations - and to torpedo our relations with West Germany and Chancellor Adenauer - will be interpreted at the United Nations as representing the viewpoint of the Administration. No amount of insistence will wipe out the impression that this is more than a statement of views by a group of Americans whose ideas run counter to those of the majority.

Dr. Rostow's views are well known to the diplomatic community. When they are added to those of the "unofficial" AAUN, the net effect will be a serious erosion of what has been the American position. Countries that have voted against admission of Red China will not fail to take the hint - and Ambassador Adlai Stevenson's attempts to bring them back into line will hardly be convincing. The remaining anti-Communist nations in the Far East, already disgruntled by what they feel to be the weakness of our policy in Laos, will mutter about another "American betrayal."

The irony of the situation is apparent. Red China has collapsed economically and is in the midst of a political crisis. If the roles were reversed - if an anti-Communist China were disintegrating - the Soviet Union would be working night and day to undermine the country and put the Communists in the driver's seat.

SYLVIA PORTER

Tax Cut Effects

Will Depend On Whether Low Income Favored Or Flat Slash

When income taxes are cut across the board for individuals and corporations - and the question is not "if," but only "when" - the impact on you, as an individual taxpayer, will depend, of course, on the way the cut is worked out.

Early this week, I reported in precise dollar terms how you would be affected if the tax reduction should take the form of a three-point cut in rates in each bracket. This proposal has considerable support as a quick, simple, substantial, broad reduction and if this were the form the largest percentage benefits would go to lower income families.

Under another popular plan, there would just be a percentage cut in tax liabilities across the board and this too is favored as a quick, simple, substantial, broad reduction on which Congress might compromise.

The impact on you of this percentage tax cut would be considerably different from the impact on you of a point reduction in tax rates, for a percentage cut would primarily favor the higher income brackets.

To be specific, here's how a 12 per cent reduction in tax liabilities would affect married taxpayers with two children and with taxable incomes - meaning incomes after all deductions and exemptions have been taken - of the following amounts:

Your taxable income	You now pay	You would save
$ 200	$ 20	$ 2.40
1,000	100	12.00
2,000	200	24.00
4,000	400	48.00
6,000	600	72.00
8,000	800	96.00
10,000	1,000	120.00
12,000	1,200	144.00
14,000	1,400	168.00
16,000	1,600	192.00
18,000	1,800	216.00
20,000	2,000	240.00

Until Congress actually goes home the tax reduction story for 1962 will not be completed. The situation is changing not only from day to day but also from hour to hour. The sides for and against are not nearly as inflexible as daily headlines suggest. The economic statistics which will be coming out as Congress plods toward adjournment will be adding to pressures for a bold move to avert the next recession.

As fluid as the timing at this stage is the form of an individual tax reduction. The corporation tax reduction - which it is widely agreed must be put through with the individual tax reduction - would be simple. The present top corporate tax rate is 52 per cent. It would be reduced at least to 49 per cent, quite possibly to 47 per cent - with each point reduction amounting to an annual tax slash for corporations of approximately a half-billion dollars or a total cut of from $15 to $25 billion.

But on the form of the individual cut, there is much disagreement. In addition to the point and percentage reduction plans are these proposals:

1. The Chamber of Commerce plan. Under this, the top individual tax rate would be cut from 91 to 65 per cent; the lowest rate would be cut to 15 per cent on the first $1,000, as against 20 per cent on the first $2,000 today. Rates in between would be scaled down proportionately. Within the administration, there is important support for this plan.

2. The plan for a $200 increase in the per capita exemption. This is favored by labor groups because it would concentrate the benefits in the lowest income brackets.

3. The plan for a five-point reduction in the first bracket only. This too would concentrate benefits in the lower income groups.

At this writing, the odds are the administration would accept almost any tax cut Congress would vote. If Congress says "no" and our economy moves from this faltering advance into a downslide, those of us who have closely followed this story will know where to place the blame - and no amount of political buck-passing will cover the truth.

THE ALMANAC

By United Press International
Today is Saturday, July 28, the 266th day of 1962 with 156 to follow in 1962.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1914, Austria declared war on Serbia, marking the real beginning of World War I.

In 1912, more than 15,000 unemployed war veterans camping in Washington were driven out of the city by Federal troops commanded by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

In 1941, after negotiating with the vichy government of France, Japanese troops swarmed into Indochina and began their occupation of the French colonial outpost.

In 1945, an Army B25 bomber crashed into the Empire State Building in New York City, ripping a hole in the side of the skyscraper 915 feet above the street.

A thought for the day: Izaak Walton, the English essayist, said "Good company and good discourse are the very sinews of virtue."

Short Course For Guidance Personnel Set

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech has scheduled its fourth short course for guidance personnel Aug. 6-17 in the air-conditioned special education center here.

The two-week course will be taught by Dr. W. L. Bergeron, associate professor of psychology at Tech.

"The continuation of these post-summer-term courses in the area of organization and administration of guidance services is part of Tech's efforts to contribute to improvement of school programs throughout the state," Dr. Bergeron said.

Enrollment will be limited to 25 persons and the registration fee will be $15.

In the three previous guidance short courses at Tech, a total of 82 personnel workers participated, according to Dr. Bergeron. The enrollees represented the following 28 parishes:

Bienville, Jefferson, Ascension, Avoyelles, Terrebonne, Allen, East Carroll, Acadia, Rapides, Jackson, Lafourche, Lincoln, East Baton Rouge, Iberia, East Feliciana, Washington, Caldwell, Bossier, Webster, Morehouse, Caddo, Richland, Tangipahoa, Caliborne, Ouachita, Orleans, Union and St. Bernard.

In addition to some of these parishes, St. Charles and Lafayette will be represented by enrollees in the Tech short course next month, Dr. Bergeron reported.

Local Residents Hurt In Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Guy DuPriest of 4003 Harrison St. in Monroe suffered injuries Thursday in an automobile accident at Lubbock, Tex. Mrs. DuPriest was reported confined in Methodist Hospital with four cracked ribs, a fractured pelvis and facial injuries.

DuPriest, his daughter-in-law and a grandchild were less seriously hurt, reports reaching here said.

The DuPriests had taken their daughter-in-law, the former Joy Emerel of West Monroe, back to Lubbock after a two-week visit in the Twin Cities and were staying a week in the Texas city.

The younger Mrs. DuPriest sustained two deep cuts on a leg, while the elder DuPriest and the child received only minor cuts and bruises.

MARY JANE PARNELL, left, and Conway E. Crossland, president of the Central Savings Bank & Trust Co., discuss the $800 per year grant from the Northeast State Scholarship Foundation made possible by a donation from the bank. Mary Jane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Parnell of Gibsland, will receive the award for four years. Now in summer school at Northeast, she was valedictorian of her high school graduating class and was a National Merit Scholarship semi-finalist.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our 20-year-old daughter is very serious about a 22-year-old boy. The boy has a good character and we approve of him in every way except one. He is constantly calling our daughter, "knucklehead," "idiot," "birdbrain" and "numskull." I suppose he is only teasing her, but it rubs me the wrong way. I feel if they got married it would come time and maybe get worse. He treats her very well and seems to be very considerate of her feelings in all other ways. What is your opinion?

CONCERNED MOTHER
DEAR CONCERNED: If it doesn't bother your daughter, don't let it bother you. Better this way than to have him call her "darling, sweetheart and honey" and mistreat her.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper for a mother to open the letters her 17-year-old daughter receives from her fiancé in the service? I know many servicemen who have the same problem.

A LONG WAY FROM HOME
DEAR LONG WAY: All mail is the private property of the person to whom it is addressed — and the government postal authorities will back me up on this. If after the letter is received, the daughter wishes to share it with her mother, that's her business, but no one has the right to open another's mail.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding your column about drop-in visits from the clergy, a discussion of the hospital visit may also be in order. Since clergymen are not restricted to regular visiting hours, many of them drop in whenever it is convenient for them, without considering whether it is convenient for the patient or the staff. Unexpected visits, especially from the clergy, may upset the patient. I think it would be a good idea if the family of the patient advised the clergyman when to visit the patient, if indeed the patient wishes him to visit at all.

MORRIS TELLER,
Rabbi, Chicago, Illinois

CONFIDENTIAL TO GETTING MARRIED: The ceremony will be over in an hour, but the hurt could last a lifetime. Ask your sister to be your maid-of-honor.

How's the world treating you? For a personal unpublished reply, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Auction Of 1st Cotton Bale Set At Meet Friday

Plans have been readied for auctioning the first bale of cotton from the 1962 crop in Ouachita Parish.

John Birdsong Sr., chairman of the agriculture committee of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, said the auction will be conducted in the lobby of the Ouachita National Bank.

Arrangements for the event were completed at a meeting of the committee here Friday. Agriculture officials have estimated that the first bale in the parish will be ginned sometime during the third week of August.

Birdsong pointed out that the Monroe trade area has more than 332,000 acres in cotton with a potential value of some $60 million. Ouachita Parish has some 16,000 acres with a potential value of over $3 million.

He added that more than 15,000 bales were ginned in the parish in 1961, with the yield expected to increase this year.

5 Cases Heard In West Monroe Court Activity

Only five cases came before Judge John McCormick Friday in West Monroe municipal court and four of them dealt with traffic offenses.

Forfeiting bonds of $25.50 for reckless driving were 28-year-old Reno, Nev. Negro, Huey Nelson, and D. E. Hatten Jr., 26, of Chatham.

Darrell E. Bridges, 19, Route 4, box 34B-7, West Monroe, was fined $25 and costs or 10 days in jail on a count of the same offense, but the fine was suspended on payment of court costs.

Reckless driving charges were withdrawn, as were charges of resisting arrest, on 56-year-old Jesse C. Harper, 411 Harper St., and a fine of $25 and costs or 10 days for disturbing the peace was suspended.

A $40 bond, also for disturbing the peace, was forfeited in another case.

'Alert Warning' System Set In Ouachita Parish

Study of an "alert warning" system for the Civil Defense program in Ouachita Parish is underway.

Lt. Col. Harold K. Shepherd, CD director for the parish, said the survey for the warning system arrived here Friday. He is residential areas and around ball parks, Mayor J. Allan Norris said. While pointing out that the mosquito problem in the city appeared less severe this year, he stressed it still was available.

He pointed out that the initial cost of an alert system appears to be "between $25,000 and $100,000."

Shepherd also said that he has completed writing the CD plan for the parish. It incorporates Monroe, West Monroe, Sterlington and the entire parish.

He added that one of the basic problems facing the CD program in the parish is planning for evacuation of 85,000 persons, plus plans for feeding and housing an additional 55,000 persons in event of disaster.

OVER EAST BERLIN

Russians Trying Air Space Move

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
BERLIN (AP)—The Russians are trying to shut Western aircraft out of the air space over East Berlin.

Twice this week Soviet jet fighters have bothered American military aircraft over the divided city.

Soviet officers in the Berlin air safety center keep up a steady barrage of complaints about Western aircraft crossing Communist East Berlin on their approach to West Berlin's Tempelhof airport.

They appear to have embarked on a new sustained operation aimed at slicing away Western rights.

The three air corridors from West Germany to West Berlin lead into a pool of air space over Berlin. Its center is over the four-power air safety center, roughly in the middle of the city.

This is called the Berlin control area, covering both West and East Berlin.

The Western powers insist that their aircraft can fly anywhere inside that space.

The Soviets appear to be taking the line that the air space over East Berlin—behind the Red wall—is under sovereign control of their satellite, the German Democratic Republic.

The Western answer is that the whole of Berlin, according to post-war agreements, is a four-power city.

The Communists have been underrunning this concept for 17 years in an effort to get the Western Allies out of West Berlin.

As one Western source put it, "The Soviets bring up the same old arguments almost every day. They pass across the table their complaints. They know exactly what answers we are going to push back."

"At the moment it's being done with a smile and a shrug. It's not yet like it was in February and March. Then they were grim and unsmiling."

A diplomat with long service in Berlin said, "That's the Soviet way. They think that if they hammer away at something long enough, they'll get their way in the end. They have endless patience—and sometimes it pays off."

The main West Berlin airport is Tempelhof, only 1 1/2 miles from

Hospital Given New Equipment

The St. Francis Hospital Guild has donated a $17,000 temperature regulating machine to the surgical department of the facility, making it the first in use in this part of the state.

Designated as an "Aquaticum," K-Thermia unit, the device automatically regulates the temperature of a patient within half a degree of that preset by a physician.

Mother Embarras hospital administrator, expressed thanks to the Guild Friday and said the machine was sure to save lives in years to come.

Short Course For Guidance Personnel Set

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech has scheduled its fourth short course for guidance personnel Aug. 6-17 in the air-conditioned special education center here.

The two-week course will be taught by Dr. W. L. Bergeron, associate professor of psychology at Tech.

"The continuation of these post-summer-term courses in the area of organization and administration of guidance services is part of Tech's efforts to contribute to improvement of school programs throughout the state," Dr. Bergeron said.

Enrollment will be limited to 25 persons and the registration fee will be $15.

In the three previous guidance short courses at Tech, a total of 82 personnel workers participated, according to Dr. Bergeron. The enrollees represented the following 28 parishes:

Bienville, Jefferson, Ascension, Avoyelles, Terrebonne, Allen, East Carroll, Acadia, Rapides, Jackson, Lafourche, Lincoln, East Baton Rouge, Iberia, East Feliciana, Washington, Caldwell, Bossier, Webster, Morehouse, Caddo, Richland, Tangipahoa, Caliborne, Ouachita, Orleans, Union and St. Bernard.

In addition to some of these parishes, St. Charles and Lafayette will be represented by enrollees in the Tech short course next month, Dr. Bergeron reported.

Local Residents Hurt In Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Guy DuPriest of 4003 Harrison St. in Monroe suffered injuries Thursday in an automobile accident at Lubbock, Tex. Mrs. DuPriest was reported confined in Methodist Hospital with four cracked ribs, a fractured pelvis and facial injuries.

DuPriest, his daughter-in-law and a grandchild were less seriously hurt, reports reaching here said.

The DuPriests had taken their daughter-in-law, the former Joy Emmerl of West Monroe, back to Lubbock after a two-week visit in the Twin Cities and were staying a week in the Texas city. The younger Mrs. DuPriest sustained two deep cuts on a leg, while the elder DuPriest and the child received only minor cuts and bruises.

Auction Of 1st Cotton Bale Set At Meet Friday

Plans have been readied for auctioning the first bale of cotton from the 1962 crop in Ouachita Parish.

John Birdsong Sr., chairman of the agriculture committee of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, said the auction will be conducted in the lobby of the Ouachita National Bank.

Arrangements for the event were completed at a meeting of the committee here Friday. Agriculture officials have estimated that the first bale in the parish will be ginned sometime during the third week of August.

Birdsong pointed out that the Monroe trade area has more than 332,000 acres in cotton with a potential value of some $60 million. Ouachita Parish has some 16,000 acres with potential value of over $3 million.

He added that more than 15,000 bales were ginned in the parish in 1961, with the yield expected to increase this year.

5 Cases Heard In West Monroe Court Activity

Only five cases came before Judge John McCormick Friday in West Monroe municipal court and four of them dealt with traffic offenses.

Forfeiting bonds of $25.50 for reckless driving were 28-year-old Reno, Nev., Negro, Huey Nelson, and D. E. Hatten Jr., 26, of Chatham.

Darrell E. Bridges, 19, Route 4, box 34B-7, West Monroe, was fined $25 and costs or 10 days in jail on a count of the same offense, but the fine was suspended on payment of court costs.

Reckless driving charges were withdrawn, as were charges of resisting arrest, on 56-year-old Jesse C. Harper, 411 Harper St., and a fine of $25 and costs or 10 days for disturbing the peace was suspended.

A $40 bond, also for disturbing the peace, was forfeited in another case.

'Alert Warning' System Set In Ouachita Parish

Study of an "alert warning" system for the Civil Defense program in Ouachita Parish is underway.

Lt. Col. Harold K. Shepherd, CD director for the parish, said the survey for the warning system arrived here Friday. He is now studying the information contained in the survey to determine if it is adequate for the parish.

He pointed out that the initial cost of an alert system appears to be "between $25,000 and $100,000."

Shepherd also said that he has completed writing the CD plan for the parish. It incorporates Monroe, West Monroe, Sterlington and the entire parish.

He added that one of the basic problems facing the CD program in the parish is planning for evacuation of 85,000 persons, plus plans for feeding and housing an additional 55,000 persons in event of disaster.

Russians Trying Air Space Move

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BERLIN (AP)—The Russians are trying to shut Western aircraft out of the air space over East Berlin.

Twice this week Soviet jet fighters have bothered American military aircraft over the divided city.

Soviet officers in the Berlin air safety center keep up a steady barrage of complaints about Western aircraft crossing Communist East Berlin on their approach to West Berlin's Tempelhof airport.

They appear to have embarked on a new sustained operation aimed at slicing away Western rights.

The three air corridors from West Germany to West Berlin lead into a pool of air space over Berlin. Its center is over the four-power air safety center, roughly in the middle of the city.

This is called the Berlin control area, covering both West and East Berlin.

The Western powers insist that their aircraft can fly anywhere inside that space.

The Soviets appear to be taking the line that the air space over East Berlin—behind the Red wall—is under sovereign control of their satellite, the German Democratic Republic.

The Western answer is that the whole of Berlin, according to post-war agreements, is a four-power city.

The Communists have been undermining this concept for 17 years in an effort to get the Western Allies out of West Berlin.

As one Western source put it: "The Soviets bring up the same old arguments almost every day. They pass across the table their complaints. They know exactly what answers we are going to push back."

"At the moment it's being done with a smile and a shrug. It's not yet like it was in February and March. Then they were grim and unsmiling."

A diplomat with long service in Berlin said: "That's the Soviet way. They think that if they hammer away at something long enough, they'll get their way in the end. They have endless patience—and sometimes it pays off."

The main West Berlin airport is Tempelhof, only 1½ miles from

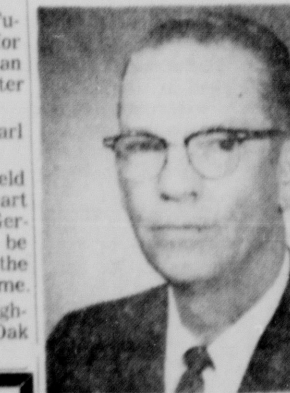

Hospital Given New Equipment

The St. Francis Hospital Guild has donated a $1700 temperature regulating machine to the surgical department of the facility, making it the first in use in this part of the state.

Designated as an "Aquamatic-K-Thermia unit" the device automatically regulates the temperature of a patient within half a degree of that pre-set by a physician.

Mother Finbarr, hospital administrator, expressed thanks to the Guild Friday and said the machine was sure to save lives in years to come.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Voice Of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Martha Raye is receiving audience ovations in "Wildcat" at the Camden County Music Fair. And song-writer Mary Rodgers wants her for the lead in the musical "Hot Spot" . . . Joe Vogel of MGM may be making news in the Spyros Skouras manner because "Mutiny on the Bounty" cost so much money . . . Here we go again: A new government scandal is about to erupt. This one features millions of dollars of salad oil allegedly going rancid in warehouses. It was originally meant for foreign countries that had no use for it . . . European observation: Liz Taylor and Richard Burton seemed to grow fat during the making of "Cleopatra." Joe Mankiewicz has lost pounds and pounds — understandably.

If you want to know the real truth about fall-out shelters, ask Marian Mercer and R. G. Brown any top government official in private — away from the radio microphones, TV cameras and the journalistic pencils. He'll break down when they landed regular that they're impractical, to put it mildly, and that what the big boys advocate at press conferences they downgrade when the reporters aren't around.

One of the best of the Broadway stars and his leading lady are succumbing to that fatal temptation to live the part off stage, too. Their only problem: he's married to a very strong-willed female . . . Shari Lewis, the popular puppeteer of TV fame, is lullabying a baby girl. In private life she's Mrs. Jeremy Tarcher . . . Joe DiMaggio went to Lake Tahoe to catch Mitzi Gaynor's dazzling act, but he's being held over — either by the scenic beauty or one of the chorines in the show.

A London paper quoted Anthony Quinn on the subject of cinder that lodged in one of her Sophia Loren: "I remember something Sophia said in an in-dorf — Goodman's side windows interview. Someone had suggested she displays some elegant stationery. That, having been born a poor girl in Naples, it must be won-tals JFK, and isn't that a wonderful to have so many jewels?" . . . Feuer and Marand houses and clothes. Sophia in will pitch their tents in said, "Nobody born poor can ever Philadelphia for five weeks feel rich" . . . The program starting September 1st, where calling for an operational Midas they'll be rehearsing their spy - in - the - sky satellite sys-tem this summer has been al-regard Philly as a good luck tered. It's now just a "research place, it was the proving-ground and development" project, be-for "Guys And Dolls" and "How cause the infra - red sensors To Succeed."

The nation's fairs and rodeos do their best to make performers rich. For example, lovely Anita Bryant picks up more loot for three days on the fair circuit than she does for two weeks at the posh Camellia House in Chicago's Drake Hotel. Rick Nelson and Tennessee Ernie Ford are other top fair grossers.

Ben Bagley is fighting his first producer's battle at the Upstairs at the Downstairs. When he signed truth about fall-out shelters, ask Marian Mercer and R. G. Brown any top government official in private — away from the radio microphones, TV cameras and the journalistic pencils. He'll break down when they landed regular that they're impractical, to put it mildly, and that what the big boys advocate at press conferences they downgrade when the reporters aren't around.

Anna Maria Alberghetti has been wearing a patch over her right eye — shades of Zsa Zsa Gabor. But she didn't earn it as dramatically as Zsa Zsa; Anna's just suffering from a painful thorny Quinn on the subject of cinder that lodged in one of her Sophia Loren: "I remember something Sophia said in an in-dorf — Goodman's side windows interview. Someone had suggested she displays some elegant stationery. That, having been born a poor girl in Naples, it must be won-tals JFK, and isn't that a wonderful to have so many jewels?" . . . PICNIC POISONING

Picnic diarrhea usually is traced to contaminated water or food. Outbreaks are not as common as they were at the turn of the century but they still occur despite improvement in refrigeration, sanitation, and living conditions. The basic cause centers about two focal points. Bacteria reach foods as a result of uncleanness to too much handling. The second mistake is to allow the meal to stand for hours outside the refrigerator. The micro-organisms enjoy the warmth and multiply enough to produce an overwhelming infection.

Persons who prepare the picnic items are likely to be at fault. The hands ought to be washed before touching any food and the table should be spotless. When the cook feels a sneeze or a cough coming on, she should cover the mouth with a hand or a disposable tissue and rewash the hands immediately. The mouth is a menagerie of bacteria that never should be allowed on food. The same can be said of flies.

Germs also enter food from skin infections, colds, or sore throats. The staphylococcus, for example, is the most common food poisoning agent, as it is the most common cause of skin infections. When a skin lesion is present, use great caution in handling food and water and wear rubber gloves or apply a waterproof bandage.

Insist upon pasteurized milk. Cook pork thoroughly. Keep all perishables covered and cool until served, particularly salads, eggs, fish, and meats such as ham. The best plan is to refrigerate them until ready to leave for the picnic.

Staphylococci multiply rapidly in certain dishes at room temperatures. These organisms hibernate when refrigerated and are reactivated when exposed at room temperature. There is less need to worry about contamination when precautions are taken while preparing the food. This is the main reason why perishable products should be consumed within a short time after their preparation.

TWINS' FERTILITY

F. B. writes: Is it true that one of identical twins always is sterile?

No. This canard was disproved by a Scots physician more than a century ago, according to Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher. The story may have started because the female twin of a bull calf has no uterus or ovaries (freemartin).

High blood pressure does considerable damage during the year when the reading is on the way up. It usually is neglected and in this respect, a little hypertension can be a dangerous thing.

Age plays a role in the majority but degeneration of the nerve also may occur in conjunction with other ear disorders that cause deafness.

DOWAGER'S HUMP

No. But standing tall and throwing back the shoulders may prevent the condition from becoming progressively worse.

Teacher Suit Set Thursday In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Final arguments in a Justice Department suit to restore a Negro teacher's job have been scheduled next Thursday.

State and government attorneys sparred Friday over voter activity among Greene County Negro teachers as Justice Department attorneys pressed charges that registration activities cost Mrs. Ernestine Talbert her job.

U. S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox recessed proceedings until 9 a.m. Thursday after both sides completed testimony in the suit.

Mrs. Talbert, 33-year-old Lucedale woman, had been teaching in the Greene County Vocational High School at Leakesville when she was reappointed shortly after giving affidavits in a suit to end voter discrimination in Greene County.

Greene County School Supt. Evans Martin said efforts by Mrs. Talbert to register and vote had no effect on his decision to replace her.

Martin said her attitude was not good toward Principal M. A. Hayes and some of the other teachers. "That's the main reason," he said. "Her attitude was bad."

Martin said the decision was not to rehire her was not an effort to keep her from voting and that this action was not intended as punishment, threat or warning about Negro teachers voting.

He said some of the teachers in the Negro school were registered voters, but he did not know about all of them.

Alma Louise Randall, a Leakesville teacher, testified it was the "general opinion" that registration and voting would jeopardize the job of a Negro teacher.

However, under questioning by Cox, she said no official of the school system had ever discouraged registration.

I don't recall anyone having told me you would lose your job," she said.

Another teacher at the Leakesville Negro school, Thelma Ford, testified she had been registered about a year and continued as a teacher.

Judge Cox has reserved ruling on two motions by the state, one to dismiss the suit on grounds the government had not proved its case and one to dismiss Greene County Board of Education members as defendant on grounds the government had not proved its case and one to dismiss Greene County Board of Education members as defendant on grounds they were not connected with any responsibility in not rehiring Mrs. Talbert.

The state held that the government had no authority under civil rights laws to sue to force the state to enter a contract with the teacher, a matter involving personal rights, and that the court had no authority to pass judgment on contractual rights under civil rights laws.

Government testimony apparently was designed to show the sequence of events as a move to back its contention. The final arguments were expected to link up evidence and testimony.

McClellan's army on the James posed three threats he could hold his army where it was as a constant menace to Richmond, he could advance against the Confederate capital by two routes, one directly along the north bank of the James or he could cross the river and hit Richmond via Petersburg and the backdoor, or his army could be pulled back to campaign from the north with Pope.

Lee, who had pulled down his army before Richmond to about 56,000 men by sending first Stonewall Jackson's command and later A. P. Hill's division to watch Pope, was caught between your army from the Peninsula to Aquia Creek. You will take immediate measures to effect this, covering the movement the best you can.

McClellan reacted characteristically in a telegram of 600 words.

The order "has caused me the greatest pain I ever experienced," McClellan wired, "for I am convinced that the order to withdraw this Army (of the Potomac) to Aquia Creek (on the Potomac below Washington) will prove disastrous to our cause. I fear it will be a fatal blow."

Pointing out that his army lay within 25 miles of Richmond, "the heart of the rebellion," McClellan continued: "Here is the true defense of Washington; it is here, on the banks of the James, that the fate of the union should be decided."

"I entreat that this order may be rescinded," Halleck, acting on orders from President Lincoln, replied first by telegram and then by letter.

"I must take things as I find them," he wrote. "I find the forces divided, and I wish to reunite them."

"The order will not be rescinded and you will be expected to execute it with all possible promptness."

McClellan obeyed the order — as fast as possible, he said, as slowly as possible, his enemies said.

That ended the Peninsular campaign on which McClellan had set out on March 17 with high hopes of capturing Richmond.

Between May 1 and July 1, the 100,000-man army of the Potomac had fought nine major battles from Yorktown to Malvern Hill. It had inflicted 27,000 battle casualties on the Confederates and it had suffered 23,119 battle casualties of its own. Despite that, the Army of the Potomac was retreating, its mission of breaking the back of the southern rebellion unaccomplished.

McClellan had missed the first of two golden opportunities he would have to win the Civil War in the east. He suspected that even his position as commander of the Army of the Potomac was in danger, as indeed it was. His political enemies in Washington were pressuring Lincoln to remove him. He also feared he would lose his army, and that it would be sent piecemeal to reinforce Maj. Gen. John Pope's new Army of Virginia.

McClellan wrote prophetically to his wife:

"They are committing a fatal error in withdrawing me from here and the future will show it. I think the result of their machination will be that Pope will be badly thrashed within ten days, and they will be very glad to turn over the redemption of their affairs to me."

All this moving of Union troops disturbed Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee, commander of the Army of Northern Virginia, and charged with the responsibility of not only defending Richmond but also of defeating the Northern army in the East wherever they were.

McClellan's army on the James posed three threats he could hold his army where it was as a constant menace to Richmond, he could advance against the Confederate capital by two routes, one directly along the north bank of the James or he could cross the river and hit Richmond via Petersburg and the backdoor, or his army could be pulled back to campaign from the north with Pope.

Lee, who had pulled down his army before Richmond to about 56,000 men by sending first Stonewall Jackson's command and later A. P. Hill's division to watch Pope, was caught between the two fires of McClellan and Pope.

But Lee did glimpse a single ray of hope in the report of Capt. John S. Mosby, a Confederate officer who had been captured, taken to Fort Monroe and then exchanged. Mosby reported that the Union corps of Maj. Gen. Ambrose Burnside had been sent from the Peninsula to Aquia Creek with Fredericksburg, Va., on the Rappahannock River its ultimate destination.

(This might be, Lee reasoned, the first move of a retreat from the Peninsula.)

From Fredericksburg Burnside could move in any one of three directions — west to join Pope, south toward Richmond and McClellan or southwest to cut the Virginia Central railroad, Jackson's communications with Lee.

Lee revealed his dilemma in a letter to Jackson dated August 7. "At present it seems to me," Lee wrote to his lieutenant, "too hazardous to diminish the forces here (on the Peninsula), until something more is ascertained. I therefore cannot promise to send you the reinforcements I intended and still desire. As the expectation of reinforcements may delay your operations and otherwise embarrass you and prevent your making an advantageous movement you had better not calculate on them. If I can send them I will. If I cannot and you think it proper and advantageous act without them. Being on the spot you must determine what force to operate against."

I agree with you in believing if you advance into Fauquier (County) that the force at Fredericksburg, if it be Pope's, would in all probability follow. But if it be Burnside's, and Pope in your front is strong enough to resist you, it might operate injuriously on your rear, also to the railroad, your communications, etc. If you were strong enough to bear down all opposition in your front, the force at Fredericksburg might be neglected, for it would be sure to fall that in your front was suppressed. It was to save you the abundance of hard fighting that I ventured to suggest for your consideration not to attack the enemy's strong points, but to turn his position at Warrenton, etc., so as to draw him out of them. I would rather you should have easy fighting and heavy victories.

I must now leave the matter to your reflection and good judgment. Make up your mind what is best to be done under all circumstances which surround us and let me hear the result at which you arrive."

Before Lee's letter had arrived, Jackson already had made up his mind. He was called out of a court martial to get the news from spies that Pope was concentrating his army at Culpeper, Va., about 35 miles southwest of Manassas Junction on the Orange & Alexandria railroad.

The spies said only Pope's vanguard had arrived at Culpeper. If Jackson moved fast he might "suppress" Pope as Lee had directed.

His columns started moving the same day, August 7.

Some 3,500 Indians fought on the Union side during the Civil War. About one third of them were killed. No Indian units were formed in the Union army, but among the regiments where they were recruited. The Confederates had a unit of Indians who fought their only battle as a body at Pea Ridge, Ark.

German troops in the Civil War refused to beat white and so they got a special allowance to make their own black bread.

If I can send them I will. If I cannot and you think it proper and advantageous act without them. Being on the spot you must determine what force to operate against."

"I agree with you in believing if you advance into Fauquier (County) that the force at Fredericksburg, if it be Pope's, would in all probability follow. But if it be Burnside's, and Pope in your front is strong enough to resist you, it might operate injuriously on your rear, also to the railroad, your communications, etc."

"If you were strong enough to bear down all opposition in your front at Fredericksburg might be neglected, for it would be sure to fall if that in your front was suppressed. It was to save you the abundance of hard fighting that I ventured to suggest for your consideration not to attack the enemy's strong points, but to turn their position at Warrenton, etc., so as to draw him out of them. I would rather you should have easy fighting and heavy victories."

"I must now leave the matter to your reflection and good judgment. Make up your mind what is best to be done under all circumstances which surround us and let me hear the result at which you arrive."

Before Lee's letter had arrived, Jackson already had made up his mind. He was called out of a court martial to get the news from spies that Pope was concentrating his army at Culpeper, Va., about 35 miles south-west of Manassas Junction on the Orange & Alexandria railroad.

The spies said only Pope's vanguard had arrived at Culpeper. If Jackson moved fast he might "suppress" Pope as Lee had directed.

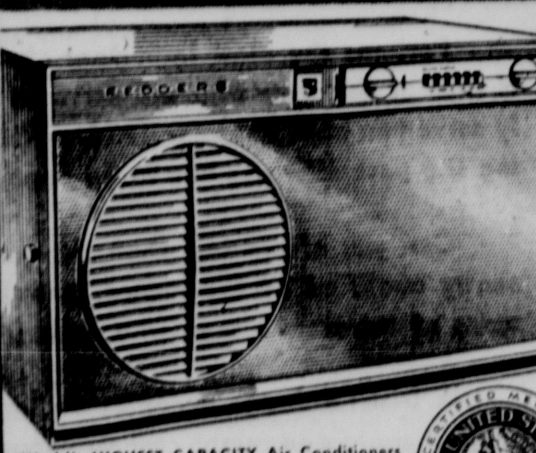

His columns started moving the same day, August 7.

No Indian units were formed in the Union army, the Redskins being distributed among the regiments where they were recruited. APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE

Fallout Shelter Funds Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential request for $568,755,000 to start an extensive fallout shelter program was knocked from an $11,501,141,000 money bill Friday by the House Appropriations Committee.

The committee said "more study and research" is needed. It approved $10 million for that purpose. It also allotted $65 million to continue the present civil defense programs and $5.5 million to keep up the stockpile of medical supplies and emergency hospitals.

President Kennedy had requested $460 million for grants to cover part of the cost of fallout shelters in nonprofit institutions, $35 million for shelters in government buildings, $56 million to stockpile shelters with emergency supplies, and $17,755,000 for research and development.

The committee noted that there has been no legislative authorization for the extensive program outlined by the President. Separate legislation required before funds could be provided is pending in other committees.

The outlook for it is not bright this year. No hearings have been held or scheduled on the basic authorizing legislation.

The bills would authorize use of federal funds in providing shelter areas within buildings built by nonprofit health, educational and welfare agencies. The aid could be on new buildings, such as hospitals, or a modification of them.

By topping more than half a billion dollars from the civil defense programs, the House committee helped produce an overall cut of a little over $1 billion in funds requested for the 26 agencies financed in the measure for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Some of the cuts may be restored when the House acts on the big money bill next Monday.

Despite the large reduction, the bill's total shot almost $2 billion above the amounts appropriated last year in a comparable measure.

Almost all of the extra money was earmarked for space programs of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. It was given $3,644,115,000 of the $3,787,276,000 it requested, an increase of $1,972,365,000 over last year's allowance.

The committee commented that, "Since we are in this race with the Russians, we want to win it."

Largest single allotment in the bill is $5,248,833,000 for the programs of the Veterans Administration. Included was $75.5 million for new hospitals and housing facilities.

Also approved here $463.4 million for the Federal Aviation Agency, $155.32 million to build 33 new public buildings and remodel 12 others in almost 50 cities, $300 million to pay for urban renewal contracts already in force, $180 million for payments to local public housing authorities, and $310 million for the National Science Foundation.

Informer's Tip Leads Officers To 35 Paintings

LONDON (AP)—A tip by an underworld informer led to the recovery Friday of 35 stolen modernist paintings valued at up to 400,000 pounds—$1,120,000.

Two men were formally charged with receiving the paintings, taken July 19 from the Jacques O'Hana Gallery in stylish Mayfair. They gave their names as John D. Terry and Albert W. Bedford, each 30.

Detectives said the paintings were found hidden under a blanket on a couch in a building rented by Terry, who described himself as a wholesaler.

The paintings were turned up by St. Leonard Buggy and two colleagues of the Scotland Yard flying squad in the presence of the accused men.

The paintings were insured for $700,000 and the insurance firms involved had offered a reward for their return.

O'Hana is at the French health resort of Vichy, where he went to recover from the shock of the big art burglary.

His wife telephoned him and quoted him as saying: "The news is marvelous, it's wonderful."

Mrs. O'Hana told a reporter the robbery was "a terrible blow to my husband, and he is ill, really very ill."

American Aviation Leader Dies At 67

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James H. "Dutch" Kindelberger, one of the greats of American aviation, died Friday at his home in suburban Pacific Palisades. He was 67.

Kindelberger was chairman of the board of the billion-dollar-a-year Aerospace Corp., North American Aviation.

WIRE RANKIN SHERIFF Restaurateurs Ask Illegal Liquor Halt

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Sheriff J. R. Edwards Jr. of Brandon was urged by prohibition-minded Capitol city restaurant owners Friday to end illegal liquor sales in Rankin County as Warren County officials scoffed at similar attacks on Vicksburg.

Charles A. Denny of Jackson also sent a telegram to Dist. Atty. Roy Noble Lee, who recently closed Scott County liquor establishments, to assist Edwards in closing the Pearl River "Gold Coast."

Liquor is openly sold in Rankin County, less than a mile from Jackson, but beer, which is also illegal in the dry county, is not sold.

The Mississippi River city of Vicksburg was attacked Thursday by another restaurateur, J. P. Crechale, and a five-day ultimatum was laid down. Sheriff J. H. Henderson of Warren County said he would pay no attention to a telegram sent him.

"I thought this was some kind of crackpot," Henderson said. "Everybody ought to mind their own business."

Crechale said Gov. Ross Barnett would be asked to send the National Guard in if the liquor was still there when the Miss Mississippi pageant begins Wednesday. Henderson replied, "If they want to send the National Guard over here, let them pop their whip."

Dist. Atty. T. J. Lawrence and Mayor John Holland of Vicksburg were unavailable for comment.

The "Committee of Seven" seeking an end to liquor sales or a change in the prohibition law, claimed Vicksburg operated its city budget through a payoff of $125-a-month from each wholesale and retail establishment.

Crechale and Denny said someone would sign affidavits before Barnett if liquor did not stop through the urging of local officials. However, sources indicated Barnett would not raid with the National Guard unless local citizens did the complaining.

Restaurateur Jimmy Angelo of Jackson said "Barnett told us he would send the guard all the way to the coast if we tried to stop the liquor and got no help from officials there."

The telegrams to Warren and Rankin counties claimed "the vested interests have too long made a profit at the expense of persons respecting and upholding our laws. Our state, if it is to maintain its position as an advocate of local self-government, must respect and obey our laws on a local level."

Satellite Filibuster Rages; Senate Proceedings Halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The filibuster shoe that's on the other foot tightened Friday and halted all senate proceedings—even receipt of presidential nominations.

This time the long-talkers are a few liberal Democrats determined to block an early vote on an administration-backed, House-approved bill to set up private ownership for a fast-developing space communications system.

Ordinarily, major filibusters are mounted by Southern Democrats to block votes on civil rights measures. They often achieve their objective because of Senate reluctance to curb its tradition of unlimited debate.

There were signs that this one might succeed, too, even though the eight active supporters of the blockade movement are less than half as numerous as the regular Southern team.

The Senate majority leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., told newsmen the responsibility for combatting the filibuster rests primarily with the Senate as a whole, not with its leadership or the administration.

He added that he does not know how the Senate can slip out of the parliamentary squeeze being applied by the senators who feel that the U.S. portion of the worldwide space communications system should be government-owned because the space money developed the rockets which make it possible to send aloft equipment such as Telstar.

"We'll have to work this out as we go along," Mansfield said. He added that for the present he will not seek to lay aside the satellite bill—a move the opponents would welcome—to get along with other business.

Mansfield did not mention invoking the cloture rule under which debate can be limited. Invoking of this rule requires approval of two-thirds of the senators voting. It rarely has been applied.

The alternative is to hold prolonged sessions. Mansfield did set up an unusual Saturday session but said continued long sessions could not be forced unless members stay around to answer roll calls.

"It is the responsibility of senators individually and collectively to exercise restraint."

The opposition band has no hope of getting passage of a government-ownership measure at this session. But it feels if it can block a vote now, public sentiment will rise against what the senators call a vast "giveaway" of government-developed techniques that cost the taxpayers billions.

Apart from the basic issue of private vs. public ownership, the liberals claim that under the pending bill the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.—owner of Telstar—ultimately would control the proposed corporation. Stock in the corporation would be sold half to individuals and other private investors and half to organized communications companies.

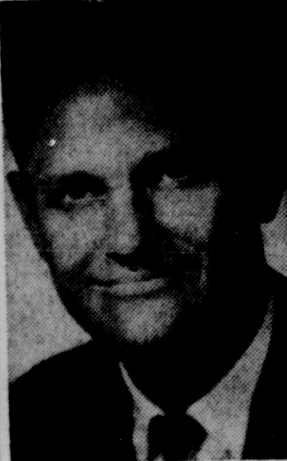

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., put on a virtual one-man show Friday by virtue of having held the floor when the session opened at 9 a.m., two hours ahead of the normal starting time.

Morse took up where he left off, talking against an appeal from a ruling which sustained his right to amend the official Senate Journal—a favorite parliamentary device of the Southerners in their filibusters.

The first result was to block committee sessions. These groups can not meet while the Senate is in session without getting unanimous consent and Morse would not yield for such a request.

Later, a White House messenger appeared with some minor nominations and a report on the first year of Peace Corps operations.

A priceless privilege is yours today. Priceless because it has been purchased with the blood of stout-hearted people. A privilege in the sense we Americans use it because it is the property of free men only, a prerogative imbedded in the granite foundation of fundamental law upon which our nation stands; not a favor granted to timid followers, but a guarantee stamped in bold letters on the pages of time by stalwarts who dared death to live free.

Today, you have the right to choose your public servants. Exercise that right! Exercise it prudently!

Perhaps the most important choice you will be called upon to make today is that of the man who will serve as your Third District Judge. He will probably serve you until the year 1976 or '80, for no Judge elected in this District during the past 30 years has faced opposition for re-election.

Can you afford less than the best? Can you settle for less than a man eminently qualified by experience, knowledge of the law, judicial temperament, sense of fairness; a man who understands your many and varied problems?

A District Judge occupies an important and vital position. A mistake on his part could and might cost you your property, jeopardize your freedom or imperil your life.

The law charges that a judge must discharge his duties with absolute fairness, unquestioned honesty and complete impartiality. Nothing less will do!

I humbly believe that I possess the essential qualifications to serve you as your Judge. I have been engaged in the practice of law in both State and Federal Courts for more than 30 years. I say, with all humility, that I have striven, during that period, to be an asset to my Community, State and Nation. I shall, in the years ahead, continue to devote time and energy and talents which God has endowed me toward making Northeast Louisiana a better community, a part of the Country in which our children and succeeding generations can enjoy a more abundant life.

I love this land we call the United States of America. I have heeded its call in the past; and as an officer in the Reserve Corps and a loyal American, I stand ready to serve again.

Strengthen the democratic processes in your District! Assume your obligation as an American citizen! Go to the polls today and vote! And I sincerely hope that you will vote for George Fink for District Judge.

No Predictions

According to Jack Rowan, athletic director at Northeast State, the Indians' 1962 football edition will be his strongest since taking over the reins in 1958.

We agree. Spring grid drills showed the Indians still have the offensive punch they developed last fall and should have enough depth to offset the kind of mid-season power stall that was caused by excessive injuries last year.

The team is more experienced. Twenty-eight lettermen return and a number of junior college gridders and former Tribe lettermen will be on hand. Only eight men were lost from the 1961 squad.

The Indians were a high-spirited bunch this spring. They grunted and growled a lot and hit each other the way they like to hit their arch rivals over in Ruston. Rowan said it was the best spring practice he'd ever had.

All of this is good indication the Indians shouldn't take any bad beatings this year, for a change.

But the question remains. Just how many games will they win? It was fairly simple last year. We predicted three wins and seven losses. Northeast came through, winning three and losing seven, through not exactly in the right order. Our crystal ball had the Indians losing to East Texas State and beating Delta. It turned out the other way around.

This year is pretty simple too. The way we have it figured out they will either win six and lose two, lose eight and win none, or wind up somewhere in between. Northeast doesn't play either Mexico Polytechnic or Arlington State. That knocks out a sure win and a sure loss.

The Tribe opens with Lamar Tech here Sept. 22. Northeast's most beat the Cardinals in Beaumont last year, losing 38-34. Playing in Monroe this fall, Northeast could win this time, but it seems doubtful.

East Texas State is next. Northeast smashed East Texas 36-0 here in '61, but Tribe plays in Commerce this fall. Will the Indians beat the Lions away from home?

Northeast follows at home Oct. 7. This is Homecoming for the Indians, but if the Demons are actually the top club in the Gulf States this fall, can the Tribe stop them even at Homecoming?

The following week the Tribe travels to McNeese. This is another of those doubtful away from home encounters and if the Cowboys' transfers come through at quarterback, McNeese could roll again this year.

Southeastern follows in Hammond the following Saturday. By rights this one should definitely be the Indians' meat, but again it's on the road.

Next Northeast tackles Southwestern at State Fair Stadium in Shreveport. The Indians won this donnybrook 26-20 last fall. Both teams are expected to be stronger and it could be another close, wild one.

The Indians take the next week off to prep for the big one on Nov. 10, the game in Monroe against arch-rival Louisiana Tech. If Northeast wins any one game this year this should be it. It isn't that the Indians will be field a better team, but simply that this is the one they want the most. And in Monroe they have given even the best Bulldogs teams a rough time. Still it won't be in the bag by any means.

November 17 brings up the last game, a battle with Delta State in Cleveland, Miss. According to some reports the Statesmen won't have anything this year. However, Northeast lost to none too strong Delta teams 27-0 in Cleveland in '60 and 9-0 here on Homecoming night last year. So why automatically make them favorites this fall?

So this is the prospectus, the finest team in Coach Rowan's tenure, but utterly no indication how they will do. Should Northeast be free of key injuries and get some breaks in the rough early games, the Tribe might jell and be mighty hard to stop.

On the other hand, the Indians might lose close ones right on through the season.

Lake Providence Nine Wins Title

MANGHAM, La. (Special) — Lake Providence, led by Thornhill, won the district five Little League baseball championship by mauling Mangham, 21-3, in the third and final game of the district playoff last night. Thornhill went 5-5 for the winners, including two homers and two doubles among his safeties. Murray and Holt were the winning battery over Mercer and Banks. Lake Providence now advances to the state tournament, to begin in Ferriday Aug. 4.

NEW YORK (AP)—Dale Long, recently acquiring by the New York Yankees for late inning hitting chores, hammered a 12th inning home run with two out Friday night to give the league-leading Yankees a 4-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Long, who was hitting .400 for the Yankees going into the game, smashed the homer off Turk Lown, fourth Chicago pitcher. The White Sox, who had jumped off to a two-run lead in the first inning off starter Bill Stafford, dropped behind 3-2, and then battled back to tie in the eighth inning on three hits. Nellie Fox singled home the tying tally.

Lown had set down eight Yankees in a row until Long, who started at first base in place of Bill Skowron, lashed out at a 3-1 pitch to end the extra-inning game.

Bud Daley, third Yankee pitcher, who replaced Marshall Bridges in the 11th inning, was the winner. Joe Cunningham homered in the first inning for the Sox for their first run. They added another when Floyd Robinson walked and Charlie Maxwell doubled him home.

The Yankees at a run in the first on two walks, a single and Mickey Mantle's sacrifice fly, an other in the third on a double by Stafford and Bobby Richardson's single. They went ahead in the fourth on a sacrifice fly by Long following singles by Hector Lopez and Cleo Boyer.

Chicago's 4-3 victory over the Yankees was the 11th in the series since 1955. The Yankees won the first two games, a 1-0 and a 2-1. The Sox won the next three, a 1-0, a 2-1 and a 3-1. The Yankees won the last two, a 4-3 and a 5-4.

Howard Hits 3-Run Homer In 3-1 Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Howard slammed a three-run homer and Johnny Podres pitched a five-hitter Friday night as the league leading Los Angeles Dodgers defeated San Francisco, 3-1, before 54,095.

The victory put the Dodgers two full games ahead of the second place Giants, who have lost their last seven games in Los Angeles. Howard hit his home run in the second inning off loser Juan Marchal (13-7) after Tom Davis and Ron Rairly singled. It was a 430-foot line drive into the pavilion in right center.

Howard has hit 18 homers this season, 13 of them in his last 35 games. In that same span he has driven in 43 runs.

Podres, who has allowed only 10 earned runs in his last seven starts, didn't let the Giants get much beyond second base until the seventh.

Then Orlando Cepeda opened with a walk and was safe at second when Larry Burright dropped a throw from Maury Wills on an error and Cepeda scored. Cepeda took third on a fly by Jose Pagan and scored an unearned run on a single by pinch hitter Bob Nieman.

Howard Hits 3-Run Homer In 3-1 Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Howard slammed a three-run homer and Johnny Podres pitched a five-hitter Friday night as the league leading Los Angeles Dodgers defeated San Francisco, 3-1, before 54,095.

The victory put the Dodgers two full games ahead of the second place Giants, who have lost their last seven games in Los Angeles.

Howard hit his home run in the second inning off loser Juan Marchal (13-7) after Tom Davis and Ron Rairly singled. It was a 430-foot line drive into the pavilion in right center.

Howard has hit 18 homers this season, 13 of them in his last 35 games. In that same span he has driven in 43 runs.

Podres, who has allowed only 10 earned runs in his last seven starts, didn't let the Giants get a man beyond second base until the seventh.

Then Orlando Cepeda opened with a walk and was safe at second when Larry Burright dropped a throw from Maury Wills on an attempted force play. Cepeda took third on a fly by Jose Pagan and scored an unearned run on a single by pinch hitter Bob Nieman.

Podres pitched a four-hitter as Twin City Printing routed Purity Ice Cream in a Southside encounter. Kokinos and Wallace got 2-3 each for the Printers while Martin got 2-3 for Purity. Caldwell and Tanner was the losing battery and Graves caught Smith.

Greenlee-B.M.A. edged M.G.M. Insurance in a Minor "A" League game as D. Jones and Smith bested Corro and Semmes. Williams of Greenlee and Billhorn of M.G.M. hit 2-3.

Twin City Glass whipped Squire Shop, 4-1, to win the "C" League championship. Fuller and Mills won over Worley and Humble.

All-Star Gridders Report For Drills

BATON ROUGE, La. (Special) — Louisiana's finest high school footballers checked in at Louisiana State University Friday and immediately began preparations for the Louisiana High School All-Star Game.

The game will be played in Baton Rouge's Memorial Stadium Thursday, August 2 at 8 p.m.

Rival coaches James "Fuzzy" Brown (Istrouma), C. G. Felder (Kentwood) and Eddie Harelson (Jennings) for the East and Racer Holstead (Tallulah), Mike Lyle (Oberlin), and Jack Dandall (Sulphur) for the West, settled their players in their dormitories and then called them out for their initial workout under cloudy skies on turf made soft by heavy afternoon rains.

Coaches of both squads indicated that they were well pleased with the physical condition of their players and said that they could move into concentrated practice session without devoting too much time to conditioning work.

Officials of the Louisiana High School Coaches Association, sponsors of the game, said that there would be no advance sale of tickets. Tickets will be sold only at the site of the game priced at $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students and children.

The game, along with the All-Star basketball game scheduled for Tuesday, July 31 at the Istrouma High gymnasium, is held in conjunction with the annual Louisiana High School Coaches Association football and basketball clinics.

The basketball clinic, featuring Coach Forest Anderson of Michigan State, Luke Marlar of Southeastern and Lenny Fant of Northeast Louisiana, is scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, July 30 and 31.

The football portion will have as guest lecturers John Bridges of Baylor and Jerry Claiborne, Virginia Tech, and will be held August 1-3. All lectures will be held in the LSU music school auditorium.

Dixie Tourney Finals Set On Tallulah Field

TALLULAH, La. (Special) — Franklin Caldwell eliminated Concordia, 7-6, last night to gain the finals of the district Dixie League tournament.

Franklin Caldwell meets Madison-Tensas, the only unbeaten team in the double-elimination meet, at 6:00 p.m. Saturday. Madison-Tensas can win the championship by beating Franklin Caldwell, once beaten in the meet, but should F.C. win, the two teams will play another game to settle the championship.

No Predictions

According to Jack Rowan, athletic director at Northeast State, the Indians' 1962 football edition will be his strongest since taking over the reins in 1958.

We agree.

Spring grid drills showed the Indians still have the offensive punch they developed last fall and should have enough depth to offset the kind of mid-season power stall that was caused by excessive injuries last year.

The team is more experienced. Twenty-eight lettermen return and a number of junior college gridders and former Tribe lettermen will be on hand. Only eight men were lost from the 1961 squad.

The Indians were a high-spirited bunch this spring. They grunted and growled a lot and hit each other the way they like to hit their arch rivals over in Ruston. Rowan said it was the best spring practice he'd ever had.

All of this is good indication the Indians shouldn't take any bad beatings this year, for a change.

But the question remains. Just how many games will they win? It was fairly simple last year. We predicted three wins and seven losses. Northeast came through, winning three and losing seven, through not exactly in the right order. Our crystal ball had the Indians losing to East Texas State and beating Delta. It turned out the other way around.

This year is pretty simple too. The way we have it figured out they will either win six and lose two, lose eight and win none, or wind up somewhere in between.

Northeast doesn't play either Mexico Polytechnic or Arlington State. That knocks out a sure win and a sure loss.

The Tribe opens with Lamar Tech here Sept. 22. Northeast almost beat the Cardinals in Beaumont last year, losing 38-34. Playing in Monroe this fall, Northeast could win this time, but it seems doubtful.

East Texas State is next. Northeast smashed East Texas 36-0 here in '61, but Tribe plays in Commerce this fall. Will the Indians beat the Lions away from home?

Northeast follows at home Oct. 7. This is Homecoming for the Indians, but if the Demons are actually the top club in the Gulf States this fall, can the Tribe stop them even at Homecoming?

The following week the Tribe travels to McNeese. This is another of those doubtful away from home encounters and if the Cowboys' transfers come through at quarterback, McNeese could roll again this year.

Southeastern follows in Hammond the following Saturday. By rights this one should definitely be the Indians' meat, but again it's on the road.

Next Northeast tackles Southwestern at State Fair Stadium in Shreveport. The Indians won this donnybrook 26-20 last fall. Both teams are expected to be stronger and it could be another close, wild one.

The Indians take the next week off to prep for the big one on Nov. 10, the game in Monroe against arch-rival Louisiana Tech. If Northeast wins any one game this year this should be it.

It isn't that the Indians will be field a better team, but simply that this is the one they want the most. And in Monroe they have given even the best Bulldogs teams a rough time. Still it won't be in the bag by any means.

November 17 brings up the last game, a battle with Delta State in Cleveland, Miss. According to some reports the Statesmen won't have anything this year. However, Northeast lost to none too strong Delta teams 27-0 in Cleveland in '60 and 9-0 here on Homecoming night last year. So why automatically make them favorites this fall?

So this is the prospectus, the finest team in Coach Rowan's tenure, but utterly no indication how it will do.

Should Northeast be free of key injuries and get some breaks in the rough early games, the Tribe might jell and be mighty hard to stop.

On the other hand, the Indians might lose close ones right on through the season.

Lake Providence Nine Wins Title

MANGHAM, La. (Special) — Lake Providence, led by Thornhill, won the district five Little Boys Baseball championship by mauling Mangham, 21-3, in the third and final game of the district playoff last night.

Thornhill went 5-5 for the winners, including two homers and two doubles among his safeties. Murray and Holt was the winning battery over Mercer and Banks.

Lake Providence now advances to the state tournament, to begin in Ferriday Aug. 4.

Kaline Single In 9th Beats Angels, 4-3

DETROIT (AP) — Al Kaline's sharp single to right with two out in the ninth drove in two runs as the Detroit Tigers rallied for a 4-3 victory over the Los Angeles Angels Friday night.

Kaline, playing his first game at home since recovering from his two-month layoff with a fractured collarbone, made Hank Aguirre a winner as 38,500 fans welcomed the Tigers home from a road trip on which they won only three of 13 games.

The winning blow came off reliever Dean Chance, who came on with the Angels leading 3-1, one out and two runners on and promptly walked the bases full.

He let the Tigers score the first of their three runs in the ninth when he cautiously threw to first. Billy Bruton's sharp one-bouncer back to the mound. Two runners advanced into scoring position and Kaline chased them home with his single to right.

NEGRO GOLFER

Sifford Fires 67, Leads Canadian

MONTREAL (AP)—Charlie Sifford, 30-year-old Negro professional from Los Angeles, pounded out a precise 67, 5-under-par, for a half-way total of 134 and a one stroke lead in the $30,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship Friday.

Sifford had his second straight round without a bogey. He played his approaches close to the pins, and all five of his birdies came on putts under 15 feet. He had an opening 71.

A stroke back in second place at 139 were Bruce Crampton of Australia, who had a 68 to go with an opening 71, little Will Homenuik of Winnipeg and veteran Ted Kroil.

Crampton, recent winner of the Motor City Open, had six birdies. Homenuik, who never has won a dollar in prize money on the pro tour, had a sparkling 32 front nine and finished with 69. Kroil added a 68 to an opening 71, on the par 36-72 Lakeside-Le-Lac course, which measures 6,555 yards.

First round leader George Knudson took a 73 for a 140, along with Don Fairfield of Perido Bay, Fla., who had 71.

Big George Bayer, with a second round 72, and Bob Shave Jr. of Willoughby, Ohio, with 71, were in the 141 bracket.

U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus soared to 75, after an opening 70, to land seven strokes off the pace. Gary Player, U.S. PGA winner last week, was disqualified early Friday after he reported that he had turned in an incorrect score on a hole in the first round, when he shot a 76.

Arnold Palmer, who won his first big tournament victory in the Canadian Open at Toronto six years ago, did not enter.

Sifford was first round leader in the Open, with a 63, but faded to a 19th place tie. His best showing so far this year was a third place tie in the Tucson Open. The cigar-smoking Sifford has won $4,226 so far this year.

Three American pros, Dave Hill, Bill Johnston and Bob Burk, were at 142, with another Irish, Jack Rule, Bobby Brue and Doug Ford at 143.

In the even par 144 bracket were Gene Litter, Ed Rubis, Bert Weaver, Canadian Al Balding and Canadian amateur Nick Westlock.

Ken Venturi, Art Wall and Bob Goulby, runner-up in the PGA, were at 145, along with Nicklaus.

The Leaders: Charlie Sifford 67, Bruce Crampton 68, Will Homenuik 68, Ted Kroil 68, Don Fairfield 68, George Knudson 73, George Bayer 72, Bob Shave Jr. 71, Dave Hill 71, Bill Johnston 71, Jack Rule 71, Bobby Brue 71, Doug Ford 71, Gene Litter 71, Ed Rubis 71, Bert Weaver 71, Canadian Al Balding 71, Canadian amateur Nick Westlock 71.

Anglin said it was unfortunate, but added that he did not think the rule is too severe, either on the player or the spectators who have bought tickets to see such pros as Player in action.

"I think it is a very severe penalty," Player told news conference at the Laval-sur-le-Lac clubhouse, scene of this year's open. "But what can you do about it? It's in the rules."

Player couldn't figure out how he came to give himself a six instead of a seven.

"This is an amazing thing," he added. "I'm normally one of the most careful scorers on the circuit. I remember telling my marker, Ken Venturi, after I got out of the woods that I had a 'fresh air' (whiff) and was lying four. I've never been disqualified in my life."

Player had pushed his second shot into the woods and his ball was lodged in the lower branches of a tree. He said his "fresh air" came on his third shot.

NEGRO GOLFER

Sifford Fires 67, Leads Canadian

MONTREAL (AP)—Charlie Sifford, 39-year-old Negro professional from Los Angeles, pounded out a precise 67, 5-under-par, for a half-way total of 133 and a one stroke lead in the $30,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship Friday.

Sifford had his second straight round without a bogey. He planted his approaches close to the pins, and all five of his birdies came on putts of under 15 feet. He had an opening 71.

A stroke back in second place at 139 were Bruce Crampton of

Gary Player Disqualified In Canadian

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que. (UPI)—PGA champion Gary Player, disqualified for turning in a wrong score, was at a loss Friday to explain how he scored a six instead of a seven on the 10th hole during Thursday's first round.

The little South African turned in a card giving a total of 75 for the first round of the 53rd Canadian Open. Late Thursday night in discussing his round with Bruce Devlin of Australia, he said he realized that he had made a mistake and notified officials of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, the ruling body of golf in Canada.

"We had no choice but to disqualify him," said Jim Anglin, chairman of the rules committee. "The rule plainly reads that a player turning in a score lower than he actually shot shall be disqualified."

Anglin said it was unfortunate, but added that he did not think the rule is too severe, either on the player or the spectators who have bought tickets to see such pros as Player in action.

"I think it is a very severe penalty," Player told news conference at the Laval-sur-le-Lac clubhouse, scene of this year's open. "But what can you do about it? It's in the rules."

Player had pushed his second shot into the woods and his ball was lodged in the lower branches of a tree. He said his "fresh air" came on his third shot.

Angelo Danna pitched a one-hitter to lead the Independents to a 2-1 victory over First Baptist for the City League championship Friday, in a game protested by the losers.

First Baptist played the game under protest from the bottom of the seventh on and Leam spokesmen felt Friday that the dispute would be ruled on by the City Softball Commissioner.

Sullivan and McMullen took the loss in the closely played game. Gannaway caught Danna.

The Monroe Optimists came back with a surprising 7-6 victory over Northside Plumbing last night behind the sterling pitching of rightie Warren Spillers, the home-run hitting of Red Holley and the classic fielding of Sam Sheppard. The win squared the Industrial League semifinal playoff off a one win each. Holley homered for the winning edge and Sheppard made a tremendous catch in center to save the triumph. Guy Gannaway and Don McLandish was the losing battery while Spillers, Odie Fontenot and Grady Merriman took the win.

First Christian won the Church "C" League championship by out-slugging College Place, 10-7, in the third and deciding playoff game. Smith and pitcher Max Wroten hit homers for the winners while Gillette hit one for the losers. Wroten and Billy Clark beat Bob Bushnell and Tucker.

Monroe Independents beat the Jaycees, 8-7, in a nine-inning Industrial League semifinal as Deane went 3-4 and Kelly and Bearden homered. Smith and Stewart were the winners over Ussery and Fisher.

L. T. I. beat Boys Club, 11-9, to win the Midlet League title. Holloway got 3-4 and Fontenot and Ramey homered. Fontenot and Hayes won over Wilson and Estes. Estes got 2-3 for Boys Club.

Easy Finance swamped the L.T.I. 21-1, in the first game of the Senior League playoff and G. Bright and Wilkerson homered and Gordy went 4-5. L. and G. Bright won over Hurt and Labrousse.

Johnson's Rebels routed the Lions for the football score of 31-6 in the West Monroe Adult League last night. Vametto and Spatafora went 5-5 and Hollinsworth homered for the Rebs while Spatafora won over Baugh and Carter.

Two Red Sox, Gene Conley, Green AWOL

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pitcher Gene Conley and reserve infielder Pumpie Green of the Boston Red Sox did not show up Friday night for the scheduled two-night doubleheader against the Washington Senators.

Red Sox officials said they were at a loss to explain what had happened to the two players.

Conley and Green left the Red Sox bus during a traffic jam in New York City around 6 p.m. Thursday. The bus had left Yankee Stadium and was taking the club to Newark Airport, where the Red Sox took a plane to Washington.

The players did not show up at the airport and the plane left without them.

Tom Dowd, the Red Sox traveling secretary, at first said it was not unusual for players to pass up team-paid travel accommodations and to make short trips by themselves.

However, when Conley and Green failed to show up at District of Columbia Stadium for Friday's twin bill, club officials were mystified.

Conley was knocked out of the box in the third inning of Friday's 13-3 defeat by the New York Yankees. He was charged with eight runs, although he might have escaped the inning without yielding any runs had his defense given him better support. The defeat was his 10th of the season against nine victories.

Green did not play in Thursday's game.

Manager Mike Higgins of the Red Sox said he would wait until he spoke to the players and learned the reason for their absence before taking any disciplinary action.

Gentile's Single In Tenth Gives Orioles 3-2 Win

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jim Gentile's run-scoring single off the first base cap capped a 2-run rally in the 10th inning Friday night and gave the Baltimore Orioles a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

The Athletics went ahead 2-1 in the top of the 10th on a single by Jerry Lumpe, but the Orioles came up with their second last-ditch rally of the game.

Pinch hitter Russ Snyder opened the inning with a walk and was sacrificed to second by Johnny Temple. Danny McDevitt then replaced Dan Pfister, who was seeking his second victory of the season.

IN NINTH INNING
Allison's Homer Clips Indians, 2-1

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Allison's ninth inning home run gave the Minnesota Twins a 2-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians Friday night in the opener of a four-game series.

Allison's blast into the upper left field deck after the first two batters had grounded out broke up a tight pitching duel between Camilo Pascual and Jim Perry.

Pascual, a 28-year-old right-hander, finished strong, facing only three batters in four of the last five innings in picking up his 15th triumph against six defeats.

The victory was the fourth straight over the Indians for the Twins, who swept a three-game series from the Tribe in Minnesota last week in which Allison hit four homers. His blast Friday night was his 16th of the season.

Perry gave up six hits, as did

EAST STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Don Maynard, ace pass receiver of the New York Titans of the American Football League, will not play in the club's squad game Saturday night because a pulled muscle in his left thigh has been slow in healing.

Coach Clyde (Bulldog) Turner had hoped to use the Texas back Friday night's game with the Giants.

Bill Shockley, veteran halfback and punt-kicker, left the squad Friday for a two-week stint with the Pennsylvania National Guard.

Lou Perkins, 260-pound defensive end formerly with the Philadelphia Eagles, turned in his suit when his off-season employer told him the job would be permanent if he returned at once.

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP)—In the absence of two of his chief competitors, Allen Webb is making a determined bid to win a starting job on the defensive secondary of the New York football Giants.

The 26-year-old, 5-11, 180-pounder has caught the eye of head coach Allen Sherman with his hustling, aggressive play in two weeks of practice at Fairfield University. Webb is bidding for the open fourth berth as a safety.

Webb has been rated behind Gene Johnson, acquired from the Philadelphia Eagles at the tail end of the past season, and Dick Brown, who came to the Giants in a trade with the Minnesota Vikings. Neither of the contenders has reported to camp yet.

Johnson has been kept home by illness in his family and Peterson is finishing an Army reserve hitch.

A's Bonus Baby Has Operation, Out For Season

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—Law Krause, bonus baby of the Kansas City Athletics, underwent surgery on his right elbow Friday and will be out of action the rest of this baseball season.

A Mayo Clinic spokesman said surgeons performed a relatively minor operation to correct a series of irritated muscle ligaments.

Also here for medical attention were another Athletics hurler, highly regarded rookie Ed Pine, Dave Wickham, and the club owner, Charles O. Finley. Finley underwent surgery for the removal of bone spurs last week.

Wickham is being treated for a broken rib, a hairline fracture, which was discovered after his arrival at his Reno, Nev., home.

Pine did say he didn't think he was quite ready for professional baseball.

Coach Red Hickey didn't agree with the Athletics' decision to let Pine go, and talked by telephone with the Athletics' big league manager, who was one of the ways sent for seasoning.

Krause was signed for $125,000. Finley said he was "trying to get Krause out of the Athletics' camp."

TWO EX-WHIZ KIDS, Robin Roberts (left) of the Orioles and Granny Hamner of Kansas City, get together in Baltimore Friday before a game between the two clubs. Hamner had just been called up from his position as manager of the Eastern League's Ring-

hampton Triplets and is expected to be used as a relief pitcher. He was a shortstop when he and pitcher Roberts were with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1950 when the "Whiz Kids" won the National League pennant. (AP Wirephoto)

NEW YORK (AP)—Gil Hodges, Dodger star, will be released at all, it likely would be in only a few games, possibly as a pinch hitter.

Hodges, who joined the Mets for their maiden season after a distinguished career with the Dodgers, also has been hobbled by a leg injury.

Two weeks ago, while attending an old timers day dinner, he complained of pain and was taken to the hospital for the operation.

Hodges said he has received 1,000 pieces of mail since he entered the hospital.

"I'll answer all of them when I get home," he said.

49ers Regain Pine

MOJAVE, Calif. (AP)—San Francisco's 49ers regained Friday highly regarded rookie Ed Pine, a 230-pound linebacker from the University of Utah, who had quit training camp.

The No. 2 draft choice departed the St. Mary's camp Tuesday night without giving a reason and returned to his Reno, Nev., home.

Pine did say he didn't think he was quite ready for professional baseball.

Driskill In Army

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP)—Two all-veteran units will collide Saturday in the St. Louis football Cardinals' first full length scrimmage.

Only two players, one in each unit, are different from the Cardinals team that closed the 1961 National Football League season. Ernie McMillan, called into the Army at mid-year, will be at right tackle on offense, and Willie West, a reserve the last two seasons, will be in the starting defense backfield.

The Cards learned that Joe Driskill, a defensive halfback the last two years, will not be released from the Army in time to play this year.

Bears Sidelined

RENNSELAER, Ind. (AP)—Three members of the Chicago Bears football squad who were held out of the recent scrimmage with the College All-Stars because of slight injuries returned to hard work Friday.

They are Mike Ditka, offensive end who had a strain in the groin area and Doug Atkins, defensive end, and Bill Martin, rookie halfback, who had pulled muscles.

Jones Signs

CINCINNATI (AP)—Chris Jones, a 6-3 guard from Tennessee's Carson-Newman College, has signed a contract with the Cincinnati Royals pro basketball team, General Manager Pepper Wilson said Friday.

Landry Impressed

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP)—Now that their veterans have had one week of training camp, the Dallas Cowboys will stage their first major intra-squad football scrimmage Saturday in Memorial Stadium.

"I was impressed with our short pass scrimmage Friday morning," said Coach Tom Landry. "I think we have made a lot of progress in a short time, and believe Saturday's scrimmage should bear that out."

The scrimmage is being held for the benefit of the athletic department at Northern Michigan College, where the Cowboys have their training camp.

Adderly Arrives

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Herb Adderly, a former Michigan State halfback who played his first season with the Green Bay Packers last year, arrived in the National League team's training camp Friday and started to workout.

Adderly was released recently from Army duty. The only other veteran who has not returned is halfback Elijah Pitts, who still is serving a 6 month Army reserve hitch.

An inter-squad game is set for Saturday afternoon with offensive and defensive teams competing in a game-type scrimmage. The Packers meet the College All-Stars at Chicago next Friday night.

Brunet Recalled

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Houston Colts recalled George Brunet, 27, a left-handed pitcher, from their Oklahoma City farm club Friday.

Brunet has won his last five games in Triple A ball to raise his season record to 7-5.

49ers Regain Pine

MOARAGA, Calif. (AP)—San Francisco's 49ers regained Friday highly regarded rookie Ed Pine, a 230-pound linebaker from the University of Utah, who had quit training camp.

The No. 2 draft choice departed the St. Mary's camp Tuesday night without giving a reason and returned to his Reno, Nev., home. Pine did say he didn't think he was "quite ready for professional football."

Coach Red Hickey didn't agree and talked by telephone with the big lineman, who was one of the rookies he figured would make the 49ers squad. After two calls, Hickey reported that Pine told him he would be back on Sunday.

Linebacker is a position where the 49ers are looking for help this season.

Layne Reports

WEST LIBERTY, W. Va. (AP)—Veteran quarterback Bobby Layne reported to the Pittsburgh Steelers' training camp Friday and took part in two workouts with the rookies.

Layne had been scheduled to start last Monday with the rookies and the other quarterbacks, but he was allowed to take time to pick up his son at camp in Colorado.

The rest of the veterans will report Saturday. Coach Buddy Parker said he hopes to have his rookie squad down to 16 or 18 by then.

Maynard Injured

EAST STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Don Maynard, ace pass receiver of the New York Titans of the American Football League, will not play in the club's squad game Saturday night because a pulled muscle in his left thigh has been slow in healing.

Coach Clyde (Bulldog) Turner had hoped to use the Texan but trainers Friday suggested more rest.

Bill Shockley, veteran halfback and point-kicker, left the squad Friday for a two-week stint with the Pennsylvania National Guard. Lou Perkins, 260-pound defensive end formerly with the Philadelphia Eagles, turned in his suit when his off-season employer told him the job would be permanent if he returned at once.

Making Strong Bid

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP)—In the absence of two of his chief competitors, Allen Webb is making a determined bid to win a starting job on the defensive secondary of the New York football Giants.

The 28-year-old, 5-11, 180-pounder has caught the eye of head coach Allie Sherman with his hustling, aggressive play in two weeks of practice at Fairfield University. Webb is bidding for the open fourth berth as a safety man with the Eastern champions of the National Football League.

Webb had been rated behind Gene Johnson, acquired from the Philadelphia Eagles at the tail end of the past season, and Dick Pesonen, who came to the Giants in a trade with the Minnesota Vikings. Neither of the contenders has reported to camp yet.

Johnson has been kept home by illness in his family and Pesonen is finishing an Army reserve hitch.

A's Bonus Baby Has Operation. Out For Season

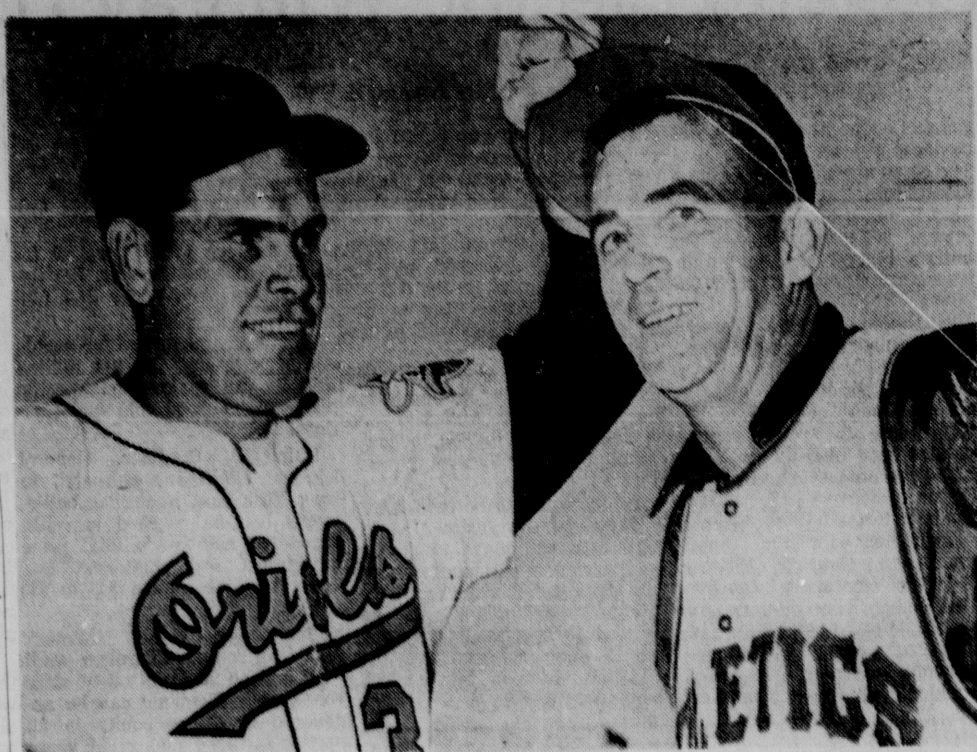

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—Lew Krausse, bonus baby of the Kansas City Athletics, underwent surgery on his right elbow Friday and will be out of action the rest of this baseball season.

A Mayo Clinic spokesman said surgeons performed a relatively minor operation to correct a series of irritated muscle ligaments.

Also here for medical attention were another Athletics hurler, Dave Wickersham, and the club owner, Charles O. Finley. Finley underwent surgery for the removal of bone spurs last week.

Wickersham is being treated for a broken rib, a hairline fracture, discovered after his arrival at the Clinic.

Krausse was signed for $125,000 last year. Finley said he believed Krausse was "trying too hard" at Binghamton in the Eastern League, where the pitcher was sent for seasoning.

TWO EX-WHIZ KIDS, Robin Roberts (left) of the Orioles and Granny Hamner of Kansas City, get together in Baltimore Friday before a game between the two clubs. Hamner had just been called up from his position as manager of the Eastern League's Bing-

hampton Triplets and is expected to be used as a relief pitcher. He was a shortstop when he and pitcher Roberts were with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1950 when the "Whiz Kids" won the National League pennant. (AP Wirephoto)

Howard Is Big Factor In Dodgers' Strong Bid

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Towerling Frank Howard's one-man war with the batting experts is over, and no one can say for certain who won. But the fact is that Frank is a major menace to enemy pitchers and is one of the big reasons the Los Angeles Dodgers are making a strong bid for the National League pennant.

Since June 19, which was the date he began to enjoy steady employment in the outfield, Howard has boosted his batting average from .267 to .306 going into Friday night's game with the Giants.

In the more spectacular area, he has hit for 96 bases and a slugging average of .746.

Included in his 46 hits were 12 home runs, one triple and 13 doubles. His RBI record is 40.

This adds up to good news for all the Dodgers, with the possible exception of veterans Duke Snider and Wally Moon. Both are great team players but Howard's surge to eminence has put them on the bench.

Toss in the name of third baseman Daryl Spencer and the trio give the Dodgers the most expensive bench in baseball—roughly $110,000, their aggregate salary.

In spring training and in the early season Howard and the Dodger batting brains were at loggerheads over his stance. The critics said Frank stood too far from the plate and even with his great stature—6-feet-7½—couldn't handle outside pitches and was off balance when he went for them.

Howard contended he had always batted this way, had been successful and he saw no reason to change.

It may be that Howard shifts his feet a little differently now and does maintain a better balance. But he still stands well back of the plate.

The private opinion of even some of the inner Dodger family is that the main reason for Howard's return to form is that he now plays regularly.

"It's just that simple," said the secret agent, who prefers to remain a secret because the Howard topic had become indeed a sensitive one.

It did appear that Frank was pressing and overly tense when called on for spot duty or pinch hitting.

The Dodgers' publicist, Arthur E. (Red) Patterson, added this pertinent point:

"With Tommy Davis and Frank Howard, we now have a terrific one-two punch. It's perhaps the finest we've ever had."

Little Baseball Left For Gil Hodges This Campaign

NEW YORK (AP)—Gil Hodges, Dodger star, will be released from the hospital next week. He will then need at least six weeks of rest at home before he can play, the doctor said.

Dr. Peter Lamotte told reporters at Roosevelt Hospital, where Hodges is recovering from an operation for removal of a kidney stone, that the 38-year-old former hoped to play in the season after that period, and Hodges probably would need most of that to get into playing shape. If he appears for the Mets at all, it likely would be in only a few games, possibly as a pinch hitter.

Hodges, who joined the Mets for their maiden season after a distinguished career with the Dodgers, also has been hobbled most of the season with a leg injury.

Two weeks ago, while attending an old timers day dinner, he complained of pain and was taken to the hospital for the operation.

Hodges said he has received 1,700 pieces of mail since he entered the hospital.

"I'll answer all of them when I get home," he said.

He added, "I still think the Mets can move up from last place when everything jells."

"I wish I was there to help them."

The Pirates needed 12 hits and a two-run error by Tony Taylor for their four runs in the second game.

They combined four singles for two runs off Jack Hamilton in the seventh and got two more when Taylor dropped a pop fly in the ninth. Thus Bob Friend collected his 11th pitching victory although Elroy Face worked the last three innings.

The Pirates took the opener as Don Demeter and Ted Savage each cloaked two-run homers off southpaw Harvey Haddix while Dallas Green and Chris Short effectively scattered a dozen hits.

General Electric Will Pay U.S. $7.47 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Settlement of federal price-fixing damage suits against the General Electric Co. for $7.47 million was announced Friday.

The cases arose after last year's antitrust conspiracy convictions in Philadelphia which resulted in fines and jail terms for 29 of the country's biggest electrical manufacturers and seven of their executives.

The settlement with General Electric announced by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy may offer a pattern for out-of-court negotiations to dispose of some of the nearly 2,000 other civil actions that have been filed by state and local governments and other plaintiffs.

Kennedy termed it an "equitable settlement for the United States" and General Electric said it was reasonable and fair.

Westinghouse Electric Corp., another major defendant in the federal damage suits, said the announcement came as a surprise, and added in a statement at New York:

"We have not been involved in these negotiations with the government and have no information of terms of settlement beyond the public announcement, and thus we are in no position to comment on the settlement."

Allis Chalmers of Milwaukee, another major defendant, also declined to comment on the GE settlement and added "As to our actions, we have nothing to announce."

Kennedy said General Electric agreed to pay $6.47 million to the Tennessee Valley Authority and an additional $1 million to cover claims by other federal government agencies.

The money is to be paid within 10 days and the Justice Department then will move to dismiss the government's 11 civil damage suits against General Electric.

Kennedy said attempts are under way to negotiate settlements with 18 other defendants named in actions brought by the U.S. government and TVA.

For the purposes of the lawsuits TVA contends it is an individual within the meaning of the Antitrust Act and therefore is entitled to triple damages for alleged overcharges on equipment it bought from manufacturers convicted of price-fixing.

In the one case it asked for specific money damages, the figure was a little under $7.5 million.

The government sued for double damages, asking for $12 million initially but making no specific dollar claim in 10 subsequent actions.

Ralph J. Cordiner, General Electric chairman, estimated in New York that if similar settlements can be reached in other cases the company's total price adjustment over the next few years would be about $45 to $50 million.

"Now that these landmark cases are settled," Cordiner said, "GE hopes that in all other cases voluntary settlements can be negotiated to insure equity to all parties involved and avoid years of costly, contentious litigation."

Cordiner said the terms "reflect a determination to protect the interests of the public, the government, TVA and the company's shareholders."

Detailed figures in the GE settlement were withheld by the Justice Department to give negotiators some leeway in trying to adjust other cases.

During the period of the price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy, the government bought about $12 million and TVA about $57.5 million worth of equipment in various categories covered by the 11 suits. General Electric was the only defendant named in all 11 actions.

Exactly how much was claimed as overcharges as a result of the conspiracy was not made known, but it was understood the settlement terms offered by GE did not differ greatly from the figures proposed by government lawyers.

The 29 companies involved in the Philadelphia antitrust case were fined a total of $2.92 million and seven individuals were sentenced to 30 days in jail.

As a result of the criminal conspiracy convictions, federal, state and local governments and other big customers filed civil damage suits for alleged overcharges under price-fixing agreements.

Miss Ginny Williamson Complimented In Ruston

Miss Ginny Williamson, Talulah bride-elect of Jim Brown, was honored with a surprise lingerie shower July 19 in Adams Hall parlor at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute by Misses Carole Causey, Nita Reppond, and Carol Joyce Waller.

After visiting with college friends, Miss Williamson was sent on a treasure hunt, guided by verses printed on small glittering parols placed in various places throughout the dormitory. She found her treasure of lingerie beneath a dainty parol of white organza over yellow satin, trimmed with net ruffles, petite ribbon bows, and paper roses.

The guests and honoree were served sherbet punch, tinted yellow, by Miss Waller from a table decorated with a massive arrangement of yellow and orange artificial flowers. A tray of tea cookies iced with yellow and orange frosting and another artificial bouquet atop the grand piano carried out the summer color theme of orange and yellow.

Louisiana Tech coeds who were present for the affair were Misses Mary Jane King, Judy Beasley, Toby Granberry, and Rebecca Davis. Mrs. Ann Keene accompanied Miss Williamson from Talulah for the occasion.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter, Shirley, is 21 years old. She lives at home and we all get along fairly well. I'm writing about a problem which may seem peculiar but we need an answer.

Shirley took a special course after she graduated from high school because she wanted to be a secretary. She has quit three office jobs, all with fine companies, because she claims she can't get up in the morning no matter how hard she tries.

Her present job is waiting on tables in a cocktail lounge from 5:00 p.m. till 1:00 a.m. She says she's much happier. Her father insists she could get up in the morning if she wanted to, and he cites as an example the fact that she got up for twelve years to go to school. He thinks she prefers waitress work because the social life is better. How about this? — LOOKING FOR THE TRUTH

DEAR LOOKING: Your daughter got up in the morning to go to school because school was compulsory. Now that she has a choice she has chosen the late shift.

Some individuals are day people, others are night people. If Shirley feels better sleeping mornings and working nights, leave her be. It's the girls who want to sleep mornings and not work at all that I'm concerned about.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been married 20 years. We have a lovely daughter.

When we were newlyweds, we figured out our budget according to his pay check. He gave me $10 a week for groceries. Well, his pay check has doubled in the past 20 years and the price of living has gone up plenty, but I'm still getting $10 a week for groceries.

Last night we were out with some friends and he picked up the check for cocktails. The bill was $9.00. My big shot husband left a $4 tip. My blood pressure must have shot up 50 points. I asked him when we got home why he did that and he said "Because it makes me feel good." I told him that now that HE feels good, he should make ME feel good by increasing my allowance for groceries. Please print this in the paper and add a few salty remarks. It may help. — SCRIMPING WIFE

DEAR SCRIMPING: If you can feed a family of three on $10 a week you're entitled to membership in the magician's union.

Your husband should give you at least $20 a week for groceries. If he thinks you are not managing properly, give HIM the $10 and let him try to do better. You'll get your job back pronto — and an increase.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why is it that the people who insist liquor is no problem and use the phrase, "I can take it or leave it alone," are always taking it and never leaving it alone?

My husband swears up and down that he is not an alcoholic. Yet, every night he puts away

NAVAL COMMUNICATIONS

THURSDAY, Scotland (AP)—Work has begun on a U.S. naval radio station in this northernmost town on the Scottish mainland. U.S. Navy Capt. A. C. Husband said the 80-man post will be in operation by next June as an important link in free world naval communications.

Davis-Battaglia Vows Are Recently Exchanged

Miss Angelina Battaglia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcel White, became the bride of Jack E. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis, in a ceremony at the Gordon Avenue Methodist Church, July 14 at 6 p.m., with the Rev. W. M. Allen officiating.

The couple exchanged vows beneath a white wrought-iron arch with arrangements of white gladioli at each side. Mrs. Charles Stratford provided music at the organ, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Nina Jo Osborn.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, was attired in white nylon net over taffeta, with lace bodice and sleeves ending in points over the hands. Three tiers of nylon net formed the floor-length skirt. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion and carried white feathered carnations with lilies of the valley.

Attendants were Miss Lena Battaglia, sister of the bride, maid of honor; and Miss June Smith and Miss Kitty McGee, bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses of pink nylon net and lace. Their headresses were flat satin bows with circular veils.

Two younger sisters of the bride, Jo Anne and Mary Ellen, were flower girls. They wore floor-length dresses of maize nylon and carried white baskets of rose petals.

Mr. Davis chose his brother, Jerry Davis, as best man. Groomsmen were Gary Futch, Ronnie Smith, Bill Futch and Randy Reed. Candles were lighted by Tommie Coleman and Ralph Eberts.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. White wore a dress of white linen with overskirt of lace. Her accessories were white and gold, and her corsage was of pink carnations. Mrs. Davis chose pearl pink chiffon over taffeta with dyed to match accessories and a white carnation corsage.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Summer flowers were used throughout the reception suite. The bride's table was covered with white lace and centered with the wedding cake. Mrs. Jack Green, and Mrs. B. B. Davis, aunts of the groom, served the cake while punch was served by Mrs. Jerry Davis and Lena Battaglia.

Slum Works Forces Many Out Of Homes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Where do the slum dwellers go after the wreckers level their dwellings?

An increasing percentage are moving into private housing and growing numbers, including Negroes, are buying their own homes according to a survey now being completed by the Urban Renewal Administration (URA).

The problem of finding decent housing for those forced to move by urban renewal projects promises to become more critical. During the next 10 years, the URA predicts, one million families will be forced to move because of programs to improve the blighted cores of America's cities.

By comparison, government figures indicate that only 112,000 persons actually moved during the past decade as many cities barely launched their rejuvenation programs.

While urban renewal often brings to mind public housing projects rising on the sites of razed slums, the overall trend actually is toward private housing.

Local officials were unable to keep tabs on about 15,000 of the 72,000 families forced to move because of renewal projects during the last four years. But of those accounted for, nearly 70 per cent — an increase of 17 per cent — moved into private housing.

Urban Renewal Commissioner William L. Slayton recently told the U.S. Civil Rights Commission that about 67 per cent of the families forced to move were Negro.

Some states, including New York, do not keep a racial breakdown of relocated families but the available statistics show that about 30 per cent of the white families and 20 per cent of the non-whites bought their new homes. This was an increase of 4 and 5 per cent respectively.

Rentals went down 1 per cent for whites and increased about 4 per cent for non-whites.

Officials see in the survey a reflection of the greater ease Whites have in purchasing homes, especially in the suburbs.

The rise in home ownership is encouraging in that a higher percentage of the "sales" housing meets standards than the rental housing.

Planners see little sense in merely moving people into an other overcrowded slum. However, one official described the 112,000 families relocated by developments as a drop in the bucket compared to the estimated million and a half families which migrated into the cities during the same decade.

But to insure a "more adequate supply" of housing the URA last month tightened its relocation requirements for local redevelopment agencies.

An agency spokesman said it was too early to tell how the revisions will work out, but reaction at the local level so far was favorable.

About 475 projects of varying sizes are under way in 292 cities. The pace was recently criticized by the National Planning Association, a private group, in a report on the scope and financing of urban renewal. It called for the nation to spend eventually an average of $100 to $110 billion annually in improving its cities.

In urging that the program be "stepped up without delay," the association estimated that another three million jobs would be provided, including low skill construction work.

Police Activity In Twin Cities Light On Friday

Twin City police passed a second relatively quiet day Friday with law enforcement highlighted by traffic violations and minor thefts.

Booked about 12 hours apart in Monroe for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving were Dan Merrill, 31, 800 McGuire, and Negro Willie Jackson, 52, 603 Adams St. Picked up around 7:30 a.m. at Arkansas and Seventh Streets, Merrill was free later in the day under bond of $435. Jackson, picked up at 7:20 p.m. at Twelfth and Pine Streets, was being held under the same bond.

Patricia Jean Cole, 30, 1000 N. 5th St., posted $200 bond after she was taken into custody on a warrant charging theft by check. Deloris Ann Allen, 19, Negro of F30B Foster Homes, was booked for theft from the home of Frank Bonner at 2717 Paragoud Blvd.

Negro Albert Green, 31, of 26 Blanks Alley, posted $100 bond after being apprehended on a warrant for simple battery. Wilbur Leo Walker Jr., Negro, 24, F18A Foster Homes, was booked for carrying a concealed weapon.

In West Monroe, another Negro, Thomas Williams, 28, 111 1/2 Church St. West Monroe, was charged with reckless driving and causing a wreck. Joe Worley, 17, of Oklahoma City, Okla., was booked by West Monroe officers with vagrancy and carrying a concealed weapon.

Both forces investigated several minor auto crashes but none involved personal injury or extensive property damage.

Late last night, state police were working an accident on Louberta Street just outside Monroe city limits, in which an automobile was reported to have run into a yard and struck a teenaged Negro. All involved were reported to be Negroes. Injured was Arthur Pumphrey, 16A Foster Homes, who was taken by Mulhearn's Funeral Home ambulance to A. Conway Memorial Hospital complaining of a shoulder injury.

Check Machine Costs Utilities Agency 11 Cents

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — The Pennsylvania Public Utilities Commission (PUC) said Friday it will cost 11 cents in the hole because it tried to collect 75 cents from bandleader Fred Waring's taxi company and got $6.42 instead.

The PUC sent a collection notice to the bandleader's little Pocono Mountain taxi operation for an annual 57 cent fee. The firm shuttles guests between the Shawnee Inn and the East Stroudsburg railroad station.

Paul C. Grant, the Inn's general manager, remitted a check, and on the return voucher he wrote:

"It cost you more to send this."

What he did not realize was that the check writing machine turned out, by mistake, a check for $6.42.

The PUC said it spent 34 cents to mail the original collection notice and now will have to send that much again to return the check and faulty papers for proper payment.

MAKES UHF TUNERS
CRYSTAL LAKE, Ill. (UPI) — Oak Manufacturing Co. announced plans Friday to re-enter the UHF television tuner market as a result of new federal legislation calling for all-channel television sets. E.A. Carter, president, predicted that demand for UHF tuning devices will eventually parallel the current output of VHF tuners when the Federal Communications Commission completes its rule-making procedures.

Justice Stewart Suspends Ruling

LITTLETON, N.H. (UPI)—U.S. Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart Friday suspended a ruling by the Michigan Supreme Court that required an immediate reapportionment of the state senate.

Justice Stewart's ruling was regarded as a clear cut, though temporary, victory for Michigan Republicans who have fought long and hard to head off the redistricting.

The decision also assures the state that the regular Aug. 7 primary will be held. The political situation in Michigan will now remain unchanged until the U.S. Supreme Court reviews the matter, probably in the fall.

The Michigan high court ruled July 18 that the state senate was illegally apportioned. On a party-line, 4-3 decision, it said the Senate must be redistricted according to population without consideration for area factors by Aug. 20 or face an at-large election of all senators at a special primary, Sept. 11.

The hard fought battle which has kept Michigan in a turmoil for weeks came to an end in a little courtroom in this small New Hampshire town where Justice Stewart is vacationing. A score of persons were on hand for the three-hour hearing.

Justice Stewart, a native of Michigan and a Republican, said in his decision, issued a half hour after the hearing ended, that the issues decided by the Michigan Supreme Court are very new and not the same as those involved in the Baker vs. Carr case in Tennessee.

The Baker vs. Carr case resulted in the U.S. Supreme Court ruling that federal courts could, if necessary, order reapportionment of state legislatures.

Party lines were wound throughout the Michigan controversy. Gov. John B. Swainson is a Democrat, but both branches of the legislature are Republican controlled.

The Michigan court decision was a stunning defeat for the Democrats who have watched many of their legislative programs go down to defeat. A redistricting would have enhanced their chances of gaining strength in the legislature.

Ole Miss Gets 2nd U.S. Court Order To Mix

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday again ordered the University of Mississippi to admit James Meredith, a student.

On June 25, the appellate court reversed a lower federal court decision against Meredith, 29, and directed an order to admit him. But on July 18, U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Cameron of Meridian, Miss., ordered a stay of that ruling.

In its decision Friday, the appellate court set aside Judge Cameron's stay and ordered U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize of Gulfport, Miss., to issue an injunction compelling the all-white school to admit Meredith.

The court pointed out that Judge Cameron was not a member of the three-judge panel which issued the June 25 mandate to admit Meredith, adding that the court is bigger than a single judge and "it is unthinkable that a judge who was not a member of the panel should be allowed to frustrate the mandate of the court."

Negro Is Held After Stabbing; Husband Is Dead

A 52-year-old Negro woman was being held in Richland Parish jail Friday night on an open charge after her husband was stabbed to death earlier in the day at their home on Highway 15 about three miles west of Alto.

The woman was identified by Richland Parish authorities as Frances Andrews. Dead was Negro Faulkner Andrews, 58. A coroner's inquest was set for Monday at 3 p.m. to investigate the death.

Sheriff's department deputies said the stabbing took place several hundred yards from the Andrews house around 4:30 p.m., minutes after a fight broke out in the house.

They quoted the woman as saying her husband chased her out of the home, beating her as she ran and hit her with a stick. Deputies said Andrews had been stabbed with a pair of scissors and apparently died where he fell.

The Andrews woman ran on for assistance. The home was about a mile west of Rhymes Grocery on the Winnsboro Road, near Alto.

The Michigan high court ruled July 18 that the state senate was illegally apportioned. On a party-line, 4-3 decision, it said the Senate must be redistricted according to population without consideration for area factors by Aug. 20 or face an at-large election of all senators at a special primary Sept. 11.

The hard fought battle which has kept Michigan in a turmoil for weeks came to an end in a little courtroom in this small New Hampshire town where Justice Stewart is vacationing. A score of persons were on hand for the three-hour hearing.

Justice Stewart, a native of Michigan and a Republican, said in his decision, issued a half hour after the hearing ended, that the issues decided by the Michigan Supreme Court are very new and not the same as those involved in the Baker vs. Carr case in Tennessee.

The Baker vs. Carr case resulted in the U.S. Supreme Court ruling that federal courts could, if necessary, order reapportionment of state legislatures.

Party lines were wound throughout the Michigan controversy. Gov. John B. Swainson is a Democrat, but both branches of the legislature are Republican controlled.

The Michigan court decision was a stunning defeat for the Democrats who have watched many of their legislative programs go down to defeat. A redistricting would have enhanced their chances of gaining strength in the legislature.

Ole Miss Gets 2nd U.S. Court Order To Mix

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday again ordered the University of Mississippi to admit James Meredith, Kosciusko, Miss., Negro, as a student.

On June 25, the appellate court reversed a lower federal court decision against Meredith, 29, and directed an order to admit him. But on July 18, U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Cameron of Meridian, Miss., ordered a stay of that ruling.

In its decision Friday, the appellate court set aside Judge Cameron's stay and ordered U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize of Gulfport, Miss., to issue an injunction compelling the all-white school to admit Meredith.

The court pointed out that Judge Cameron was not a member of the three-judge panel which issued the June 25 mandate to admit Meredith, adding that the court is bigger than a single judge and "it is unthinkable that a judge who was not a member of the panel should be allowed to frustrate the mandate of the court."

University Head Dies At Madison

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Conrad A. Elvehjem, a shy, reserved man who became one of America's most distinguished scientists and president of the University of Wisconsin, died Friday of a heart attack. He was 61.

Elvehjem, president of the university since 1959, was stricken shortly after arriving at his office.

Rushed to Madison General Hospital, he died there about 90 minutes later. His personal physician, Dr. F. L. Hummer, attributed the death to a sudden coronary occlusion.

Elvehjem was born in the small southern Wisconsin community of McFarland, only 15 miles from the university. He served for 39 years as a teacher, researcher, dean and chief administrator.

Elvehjem's wife, Constance, two children, Robert and Mrs. Calvin Hemminger of Madison; a sister, Mrs. Orin McConnell of Stoughton, Wis., and a granddaughter survive.

Internationally known as a biochemist in nutrition when he took over as the university's 13th president, Elvehjem was in the forefront of the search in the 1930s to isolate and identify specific vitamins. In 1937, Elvehjem was able to identify an enzyme found in fresh meat and yeast as a new vitamin — nicotinic acid — now called niacin.

Elvehjem's discovery led directly to the cure of human pellagra once a major health problem in the United States.

Elvehjem also had contributed greatly to the identification of vitamin B complex and was co-author of more than 700 scientific papers on biochemistry and nutrition.

Elvehjem was a member of the National Academy of Sciences, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the American Philosophical Society, the American Chemical Society, the American Dietetic
